GUILDHALL, VI., May 13.—Hardly a trace of emotion crossed the face of Mrs. Florence Dodge of Lunenburg, when in the Essex county court house here today she heard from the lips of the foreman of the jury that she had been found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of William Heath, a painter of Dalton, N. H., who was shot on Sept. 17 last while at work in Mrs. Dodge's home at Lunenburg. Neatly dressed in sombre black, Mrs. Dodge stood impassive as the verdict was returned. Then she sank back in her seat between her daughter, Mrs. Ida Bell, who has been her constant attendant during the trial, and one of her attorneys, Harry Blodgett. The imposing sentence in the case was deferred until next Monday in order to allow Mrs. Dodge's counsel to study the exceptions noted by them during

Presented Loving Cup

As Mr. Hood entered the laboratory this morning he was met at the entrance by his employees and escorted amid cheers to his private office where the nature of the event was explained to him and where he found his brother, William Hood of Chelsea, Vt., awaiting him. Mr. William Hood had been let into the secret and came direct to the laboratory without visiting his brother's residence.

A corps of charming young employees of the plant acted as ushers and from 10 to 12 escorted nearly 500 former employees and friends to the recipient of the day's honors who not only had a kind word for all, but showed a fine memory for names and faces. Mr. Hood was assisted in receiving by his brother. One of the delightful features of the morning was the complete absence of formality. Mr. Hood upon looking upon his desk as he entered the office saw before him a beautiful silver loving cup of most artistic design, on which was the inscription: "Charles I. Hood 1861-1911. From employees on the 50th anniversary of his beginning business life in

GEORGE H. TAYLOR, Manager for Mr. Hood.

Lowell. Under it was a letter from the employees of the establishment which reads as follows:

Letter From Employees

The following is the testimonial letter read to Mr. Hood, from the employees:

Lowell, May 13, 1911.
Mr. C. I. Hood, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Mr. Hood: We simply could not allow the 50th anniversary of your beginning work in Lowell to pass without recognition. And so, when it became apparent that your own distaste for personal prominence would not permit the carrying out of a celebration as at one time suggested, we, your employees, decided to take the initiative and request you to be our guest for a short time on this 13th day of May, 1911.

Our congratulations are unanimous, our good wishes are sincere. To have lived in the same city for the long period of 50 years is worthy of notice; to have been engaged in business in one place for a half a century is an unusual record; to have followed the same business in the same city for five decades is so remarkable as to deserve special recognition on the part of one's associates and friends. And when that record has been not only successful but in every way honorable and creditable, well may the anniversary event be celebrated with admiration and enthusiasm.

We count ourselves as especially fortunate in having been associated with you in business, so long, from 33, 29 and 27 years, to shorter periods. We recall the agreeable and healthful continued in the two weeks that the trial has been in progress. Mrs. Dodge in the meantime was remained in the custody of the sheriff. Aside from Mrs. Dodge, her counsel, the prosecuting attorney, relatives of the defendant, court officers and newspapermen, there was hardly anyone in court when the session began this morning despite the fact that it was known almost as a certainty that the jury would report its finding as soon as court was convened. The jury came into court a few minutes before the regular opening hour of nine. Mrs. Dodge, accompanied by her daughter and the jail matron, had arrived in the room a minute or two earlier. She sat at her accustomed place inside the rail with Mrs. Bell at her left and Attorney Blodgett at her right. Attorney Dine, another of Mrs. Dodge's counsel, was at Mr. Blodgett's right and on the opposite side of the attorney's table, facing Mrs. Dodge, sat the third member of her band of legal advisers, Harlan B. Howe. Behind the rail and directly in the rear of the defendant sat her son-in-law, Julian Bell, and her two sisters, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Bennett.

As soon as the jury had been polled, Mrs. Dodge was asked to stand and the clerk of the court, turning to A. W. Bosworth, foreman of the jury, said:

"Have you agreed on a verdict?"

"We have," was the answer.

"Do you find the respondent, Florence M. Dodge, guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty."

"Guilty of what?"

"Guilty of manslaughter."

Mrs. Dodge's face might have been a trifle paler than usual, but she made no sign that the verdict was a shock to her. She seated herself between her daughter and Attorney Blodgett and then gazed fixedly at the floor without saying a word. Judge Alfred Hall, the presiding justice, spoke briefly to the jury, thanking them for their service and the careful attention they had given to the case. After the jury had been discharged, State Attorney Ames moved that sentence be imposed. Counsel Blodgett was on his feet in an instant with the request that sentence be delayed until he and his associates had an opportunity of looking over the exceptions noted during the trial and reaching a decision regarding what further course, if any, to pursue. Judge Hall asked the attorney if the exceptions had been drawn up and on being told that they had not announced that he would defer pronouncing sentence until next Monday, at which time counsel for the defense must have their list of exceptions drawn up in form to be submitted to the court. The judge then remanded Mrs. Dodge to the custody of the sheriff. It is understood that during the two days intervening before sentence is imposed Mrs. Dodge will have a certain amount of freedom, although necessarily her movements will be restricted.

Mrs. Florence Dodge, the widow of Marshal Dodge of Lunenburg, late high sheriff of Essex Co., was put on trial Monday, May 1, charged with the murder of William Heath, a painter of Dalton, N. H., who was killed while working in a bedroom at Mrs. Dodge's home in Lunenburg on Saturday, Sept. 17, 1910. No one except Mrs. Dodge and Heath was in the house when the shooting occurred, shortly before noon. The wound that killed Heath was caused by one of three revolver shots. Two bullets struck the floor. A revolver that had belonged to Mrs. Dodge's husband was found on the floor of the room with three of the five cartridges in the cylinder discharged.

Mrs. Dodge is alleged to have claimed immediately after the death of Heath that he had killed himself. An investigation on the part of the authorities resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Dodge on a charge of murder. Inasmuch as no possible motive for her killing Heath could be shown she was allowed, under a provision of the Vermont statutes, to furnish bail. During the trial just ended, the defense claimed that Heath's death was the result of an accident. Experts employed by the prosecution declared that in their opinion Heath could not possibly have committed suicide and most of them discredited the accident theory.

Judge Hall charged the jury that since no motive had been shown, the jury could not find Mrs. Dodge guilty of murder in the first degree.

The case was given to the jury last night after two days had been occupied with the final arguments of the attorneys connected with the case.

FOUR INDICTED GREAT FESTIVAL

As Result of Lawrence Paving Block Inquiry

NEWBURYPORT, May 12.—The Essex county grand jury made a partial report to Judge Schofield at a yesterday afternoon. Chief interest centers in the Lawrence cases, which the jury has been considering for some time.

Indictments were returned against Fred L. Snow, a contractor; Patrick Lyon, superintendent of streets; Philip Holland, contractor, and Michael J. Flynn, street department clerk, alleging conspiracy. No bill was returned against John P. Kane of Lawrence.

It is understood that the Lawrence indictments were in connection with the paving block contracts and that they were agreed to by the jury last Friday. A number of Lawrence officials and business men were examined relative to other purchases made for the city of Lawrence and the election of certain officials. The probing was not concluded when the jury reported and it will meet again next Thursday.

EYES RED, WOULD BURN AND STING

Grew Constantly Worse. Could Hardly Work Any More. Used Cuticura Remedies, and in Six Weeks She Was Cured.

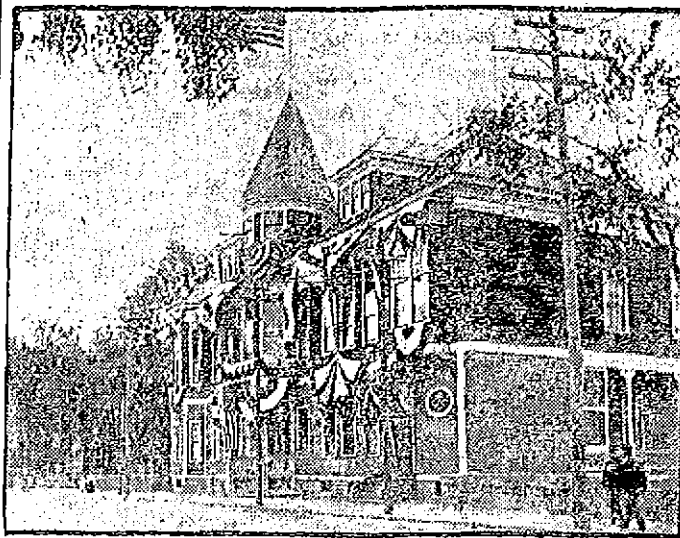

"It is just a year ago that my sister came over here to us. She had been here only a few weeks when her eyes began to be red, and to burn and sting as if she had sand in them. Then we used all of the home remedies. She washed her eyes with salt water, used hot tea to bathe them with, and banded them over night with ice leaves. All to no purpose. She went to the drug store and got some salve, but she grew constantly worse. She was scarcely able to look in the light. At last she decided to go to a doctor. He said she could hardly work any more. The doctor said it was a very severe disease, and she might lose her eyesight. He made her eyes burn and applied electricity to them, and gave her various ointments. In the two and a half or three months that she went to the doctor, we could see very little improvement.

Then we had read so much how people had been helped by Cuticura that we thought we would try it. And we cannot be thankful enough that we used it. My sister used Cuticura Pills, bathed only with Cuticura Soap, and at night after washing, she anointed her eyes very gently on the outside with the Cuticura Ointment. In one week, the swelling was entirely gone from the eyes, and after a month, there was no longer any redness or watering of the eyes. She could already see better, and in six weeks she was cured."

THE C. M. A. C. HALL, Where the Festival is Being Held.

22nd Anniversary of Organization of C. M. A. C. Observed

The 22nd anniversary of the organization of L'Association Catholique was observed in a fitting manner last night in the club rooms in Pawtucket street, by a festival which was also an annual event. The handsome building was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the event was one of the most successful in the history of the society.

The entire building was thrown open at 8 o'clock and a large throng of friends of the young men soon filled the upper hall which had been artistically decorated with the national colors. The American and French flags in the background of the stage as well as along the walls and the red and white streamers from the corners of the hall and the lights shaded with red gave a very pretty effect.

The hall was lined with booths of different denominations. First as one entered he encountered to his right, the refreshment table which was richly decorated, the colors being white

Miss Armand Lavoie, president; Miss Lea Achin, president; Miss Corinne Bourke, vice president.

Regina Barry, A. Alexander, Eva Bionnette, A. Ducharme, Antoinette Dupuis, Alice Graton, Clara Geron, Blanche Vachasse, Eva Chiron, Alice Lavoie, Eva Lequin, Blanche Dupuis, Alice Jobin, Donaldia Dupuis, Regina Caron, Robie Ducharme, Victoria Leclerc.

Then came the candy table, the predominant colors there being white and purple. All grades of delectable bonbons were on sale on this particular table, and business was rushing too. Those in charge were:

Adelaide Payette, president; Miss Marthe Favreau, president; George Simard, vice president; Miss Eva Pupais, vice president.

Jeanne Payette, Eva Bionnette, A. Ducharme, Antoinette Dupuis, Alice Graton, Clara Geron, Blanche Vachasse, Eva Chiron, Alice Lavoie, Eva Lequin, Blanche Dupuis, Alice Jobin, Donaldia Dupuis, Regina Caron, Robie Ducharme, Victoria Leclerc.

In the center of the floor was the most attractive spot; this was the flower table. It consisted of a huge basket prettily decorated with yellow and contained an elaborate line of select flowers. This table was in the care of the following who made a good night of it:

Noela Fortier, Blanche Dalgie, Irene Gendron, Blanche Simard, Anna Paquin, Emma Lavelle, Grace Lucier, Blanche Hamel, Sylvia Hamel, Flora Dufault.

Marthe Manville, Beatrice Chapin, Beatrice Lavoie, Alice Gachols, Bertha Brunelle, Lucie Simard, Antoinette Picard, Eugene Labrecque, Helene Larocque, Alexandrine Hamel.

The following were in charge: Edmond Mattie, president; Miss Alex Lavoie, president; Adolphe Brassard, vice president; Miss Jennie Langlois, vice president.

Bella Bisson, Florida Lemire, Chantal Pelletier, Clara Nadeau, Eva Duront, Adele Tremblay, Helena Rondeau, Grace Givens, Amelie Giroux, Albertine Grotteau, A. Froment, Clara Paré, Ella Allard, Louise Allard.

Last but not the least was the refreshment table situated in the large amusement room of the club, on the first floor. This booth was the largest and was artistically decorated with potted plants. Ice cream was the main attraction at this corner and a lot of it was consumed.

The following were there on duty: Wilfred C. Vigeant, president; Miss Rose C. Teller, president; William A. Bourke, vice president; Miss Lea Benoit, vice president.

Rebecca Teller, Laura Chouinard, H. Grandchamp, Chas. E. Bourke, Antoinette Richard, Adolphe Teller, Arthur Groux, H. Ducharme, Lena Lechance, Florida Lapointe.

MALL-ILYON CO.

OF NEW ENGLAND APOTHECARIES 67-69 Merrimack Street, Lowell

The whole ensemble presented a gay scene and to add to the festivities an elaborate entertainment program was rendered. First came a pretty little playlet entitled "On Demande Un Acteur," the parts being sustained by Masters Albert Gosselin and Henry Dubois, two well known young amateurs who sustained their parts very well. The play created a lot of laughter and was well received by the large audience.

Then there was a minstrel presented by the famous Jolly club. George Carpentier as an interlocutor cannot be beaten, while the other members of the club, Frank Leclerc, Romeo St. George, Albert Boucher, Fred Paquette, Fred Benoit, Eddie Drouin, proved to be first class and sang songs and dances which were well rendered and a large number of members of the association received their share of the knocking, especially one of them who recently at a box party purchased one of the previous boxes.

JOSEPH L. LAMOREUX, Treasurer C. M. A. C.

which happened to be the property of a sweet little girl, and for which he paid $100.00.

Mr. Frank Lambert, musical director of the club, presided at the piano.

Hall's orchestra was in attendance during the evening. Last night was known as the military night, any member of the staff militia as well as of any local guard, being welcomed without admission fees. A large number of them turned out, and the pretty uniforms added to the effect of the decorations. Many of the priests of St. Joseph's and Notre Dame de Lourdes, parishes were present.

The committee in charge deserves special mention for the affair was one of the most successful ever conducted by the association. The affair will be repeated tonight.

The committees are as follows: Organization committee—Xavier A. Delisle, president; Adolphe Brassard, vice-president; Wilfred Achin, secretary; Jos. L. Lamoureux, treasurer; Joseph Audette, Adolphe Payette, Adolphe Teller, William Bourke, Ugeil Favreau, Armand Lavoie, George Simard, Adolphe Vigeant, Henri Simard, Rodrigue Jodoin, Edmond Malle, Arthur Lussier, Arthur Lamoureux.

Sub-committees: Music, Adolphe Payette, Edmond Malle, Xavier Delisle; badges, Joseph L. Lamoureux; Armand Lavoie, Arthur Lamoureux; amusement, Adolphe Teller, Arthur Lussier, Adolphe Brassard; program, Adolphe Brassard, Armand Lavoie, Xavier Delisle.

Reception committee: Uniformed members of Garde d'Honneur, Wilfred Drapac, Albert Blazon, Henri Achin, fils, Henri Achin, pere, Emory Cagnac, Thomas J. Goyette, Adolphe Delisle, Dr. N. O. DEATHS

ROGERS—John Z. Rogers, son of the late Zadock Rogers of this city, died May 6 in New York city, where he had engaged in newspaper work for several years. He was 45 years old and a graduate of Brown university. He left Lowell many years ago and had engaged in various business ventures before going into journalism.

Saved Child From Death

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumed. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicines seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy. For coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by A. W. Davis & Co."

Be sure to buy the Boston Sunday Globe tomorrow.

The late Zadock Rogers was a brother of the Misses Rogers, who established Rogers Hall school and gave Fort Hill park to the city. He is survived by a wife and three sons. Mrs. Rogers was formerly Miss Hattie M. Rogers of this city, a daughter of the late William Rogers. The cause of death was tuberculosis.

CLAIRMONT—Mr. Maximé Clairmont died yesterday at his home, 157 Perkins street, at the age of 64 years. Besides his wife, he is survived by four daughters, Priscilla, Elizabeth, Marie Louise and Anna; one son, Romulus, and two brothers, Narcisse of Lowell and Louis of Canada; one sister, Mrs. Alexis Avette of Plattsburgh, N. Y.

CONDON—Mrs. Mary Mahoney Condon died yesterday at 12 Rogers street. She leaves her husband, Daniel, and two children, Jeremiah P. and Mary M., also her father in Ireland.

MURRAY—Mrs. Mary Murray, wife of Thomas H. Murray, and a devout member of St. Patrick's church, died yesterday at her home, No. 161 Cushing street, aged 47 years. Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, John and Thomas Murray, and three brothers, John, Patrick and William Mitchell.

FUNERALS

HANCOCK—The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Super Hancock took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from the residence of her niece, Mrs. George R. Chandler, 59 Third street. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles F. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church. Burial will take place today at Coventry, Vt. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

THE FRATERNITIES

GUSTAVE FORTIER, Regent.

Rochambeau Council, Royal Arcanum, and Its Officers

Rochambeau council, Royal Arcanum, the youngest local council of this large order, although not the least important, was instituted in 1903 by Grand Regent Albert W. David. This branch of the Arcanum is somewhat handicapped in the recruiting work for it is composed solely of French-speaking people, but nevertheless the members are doing very good work and the council is in good standing.

At the first meeting the following 35 charter members were initiated: Joseph A. Legare, Louis F. Richards, Jean J. Cote, David A. Parthenais, Georges Deslauriers, Edouard S. Richard, Thomas J. Goyette, George E. Mongeau, Marjorie J. Cosselle, Dr. George E. Calaisse, Ernest A. Bernard, Joseph A. Gagnon, Ed. Boulanger, Victor C. Salois, L. P. Fortier, Z. A. Normandin, J. H. Miller, Hyppolyte P. Thoreau, J. C. Manseau, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux, Telesphore Bourque, Louis Gagnon, P. A. N. G. Leblanc, Albert L. Provost, R. Vignault, Arthur Roberge, Henri Barry, Dr. G. E. Constantineau, Joseph Harvey.

On the same night the following board of officers was elected: Thomas J. Goyette, regent; M. J. Cosselle, vice regent; H. L. P. Turcotte, J. C. Manseau, A. Legare, past regent; L. A. Richard, secretary; D. A. Parthenais, collector; G. E. Mongeau, treasurer; V. C. Salois, chaplain; D. Deslauriers, guide; Ed. H. Boulanger, warden; Ed. S. Richard, sentry; Dr. G. E. Calaisse, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux and Dr. G. E. Constantineau, trustees.

day afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs. Ben L. Hild, 49 Royal street. The services were conducted by Rev. Arthur Bonner, pastor of the Highland M. E. church, and Rev. George S. Butters, D. D., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Newton, Mass. Appropriate selections were sung by the Misses Florence Kilpatrick and Herbert. The bearers were Frederick W. Fairbank, Arthur W. Hild, Eugene Patterson and Joseph M. Spurr. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

FUNERAL NOTICES

MURRAY—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Murray will take place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her home, 151 Cushing street. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. Services at the grave, J. E. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

BARRETT—The funeral of the late Mrs. Nancy Barrett will take place Monday morning at 8 o'clock from her home, 129 Salem street. Burial high mass of requiem will be sung in St. Patrick's church at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers J. E. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Today concludes the successful season of the Donald Meek stock company with Severin DeDoy at the Hathaway theatre and the many patrons of the theatre will regret their departure. The final performance of "The Bachelor's Housewife" which has been drawing large houses all week, will be given today and those who have not witnessed a performance should avail themselves of this closing opportunity. With the exception of Mr. Meek most of the members of the company will leave Lowell for other scenes the first of the week. Mr. Meek will remain in Lowell for a few days. Mr. DeDoy goes to New York and from the metropolis he will proceed to Scranton, Pa., where he will run a summer stock company of his own. Miss Lillian Netherlauer goes to her home in Rochester to enjoy her first vacation in the east in several years. Mr. Calais

The council has always taken an active part in all the Arcanum movements and its members are always endeavoring to do their share of the work. Its membership is increasing every day and initiation classes are being held most every month. Another is being planned for July, at which time it is expected some 15 new members will be enrolled.

The past regents of the council are: Joseph A. Legare, elected at organization; T. J. Goyette, M. J. Cosselle, H. L. P. Turcotte, Ed. H. Boulanger, Albert W. Branchaud, Aldric L. Teller and Rudolph Vignault.

The present officers are: Gustave Fortier, regent; Alfred Ducharme, vice regent; Lorenzo Gouin, orator; Albert Branchaud, secretary; D. A. Parthenais, collector; M. J. Cosselle, treasurer; Joseph Meek, chaplain; Aldric L. Teller, guide; Alcide Fleury, warden; Albert Deslauriers, sentry; Dr. G. E. Calaisse, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux and Dr. G. E. Constantineau, trustees.

Regent Fortier is an efficient officer and under his regency the council has made great progress, for many members were initiated and a substantial sum of money was realized through entertainments.

The present collector as well as the board of trustees have been in office since the organization of the council, while Secretary Branchaud has been serving as such for five years. The council meets every second and fourth Wednesday of the month in C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street.

TO PRODUCE ENERGY
And Overcome Inertia

Good health is necessary to success—it is the mainspring of action. Without it you falter and fail and make a failure of things generally. Without good health you are at a disadvantage commercially, socially and intellectually. Health rules purpose, energy, concentration and accomplishment.

Be healthy. Remember that loss of energy means loss of business acumen. To ail means to fail. The surest means of warding off ailments and of providing against any loss of vigor is to take an occasional dose of Beecham's Pills.

They are famous the world over for their excellent effect upon the stomach, liver and other organs of digestion. If you are suffering in any way from digestive trouble you will be well advised to give them a trial. They will quickly and surely give tone to the system, restore the appetite, bring Health and Energy and help you to prevail in the battle of life. It pays to take

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The Operatic recital given by J. Edward Pierce and Miss Marie Beslin at the Merrimack Square Theatre last evening proved a big drawing card despite the uncomfortable weather conditions. That the efforts of the singers were fully appreciated goes without saying. Their program was a clever one and highly entertaining throughout. Mr. Pierce's fine baritone voice was used to advantage in several of the numbers and Miss Beslin, a soprano of merit, also shared in the honors of the evening. It truly was a musical treat.

For next week Rose Platonoff, the wonderful little Russian girl whose swing to Boston Light, more than a year ago, brought her before the public eye, will be seen in the feature offering. Miss Platonoff will give a demonstration of diving and swimming, entirely new and novel to theatregoers. This same act has been given at Kett's theatre in Boston and many of the other big vaudeville houses of the country at prices ranging from 25 cents to $1. Lowell playgoers will be given an opportunity to see the very same things at the popular prices which prevail here.

Other acts on the bill include Sheldon and Wilson, presenting a comedy sketch, "The Bootblack and His Girl." This act is of unusual merit and is deserving of special mention. Harry Adler, known as "That Mimic," is one of the very best in his line and sure to greatly amuse all of the patrons of this theatre. Jack Crowley will be heard in songs and there will be a new and high-class series of daylight motion pictures.

The sacred concerts, which will be given Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 7 and 9 o'clock will again compare favorably with the best of the season. The Jolly Jokers will give a fine musical act and Wallace and Osburg, comedians will entertain in their new offering. Jack Lyle is a singing and talking comedian and Beslin and Pierce will render some new songs. There will be illustrated songs and other features.

DON'T MISS IT.
This is one of the days that we sell the 10c La Trinidad cigar for 5c straight. Get your week's supply today (a box of 50 for $2.50). As they are for three for 25c at all other times. However, the Druggist, 187 Central street, (if you are a buyer of cigars, by the box, see us.)

The new system of ventilation makes this theatre one of the coolest spots in Lowell. Bareball results of all the leagues will be given nightly.

THEATRE VOYONS

The feature of the exceptionally good program arranged for tomorrow

at the Theatre Voyons is "A Klondike Steel," a picture of life in the far north staged with more than ordinary care and telling a story appealing and novel at the same time. Three of the most popular Vitaphone actresses appear in this picture in distinctly new roles. There are other features arranged for of the best kind and the whole program will be one of the best ever given in Lowell on Sunday. On Monday the feature picture will be "Mother," a heart picture that cannot fail to cause a lot of favorable comment.—Adv.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A big novelty bill at this house today. The musical focus is in an acrobatic musical act; Bill Barlow, ex-temperamentous comedian, and Spiccoli LaBell and Engel. In "The Dutchman's First Vial," a funny pantomime novelty. A sacred concert will be given on Sunday. The vaudeville features for Monday include Ward Mykoff, sensational Russian dancers; Babdon comedy trio, music, mirth and melody; Henry Lapham & Co., in a dramatic playlet, "The Rehearsal."—Adv.

WELCH A PUZZLE

Lawrence Pitcher Had Lowell Batters' Coats

Yesterday was a gala day at Spaulding park, for it marked the occasion of the first game in the New England league to be played at the Bull Durham stadium.

Since the "Bull" game has been established in the New England league, according to the company's record no New England league player has succeeded in hitting the "Bull" and hence the skeptical ones didn't know whether the "Bull" was a Bull or not. The company had faithfully handed out cartoon after cartoon of tobacco to home run hitters but no one had ever received the $50.

But on the beautiful May day, the first day of that exquisite month, the Lawrence team came here with a young club artist in left field named Tommy Catterson. All last season Tommy with others had tried in vain to get the animal in center field but was unsuccessful. But it seems it occurred to the "Bull" that he was crabbing the ball players by remaining stationary in center field and incidentally interfering with some advertisers down in that section so he shifted to right field and there Tommy Catterson caught him when he wasn't looking and swat him in about the fifth inning, getting a three-bagger and 50 bucks.

In honor of the event the Bull Durham people sent a representative and a photographer along to see that Tommy got his all right, while the sporting editor of The Sun was sent a check in hand to Tommy with the understanding that he make a nice little speech in presenting it. The sporting editor ducked the job and handed it to Manager Gray, who is just as eloquent and better fitted in size to get within the focus of a snap-shot camera and so when Tommy came to the plate Mr. Gray, immaculately attired as usual, proceeded to the front and made his little speech which a contrary wind stopped the writer from getting. It was a good speech, however, its principal feature being its brevity.

The history of the "Bull" signs in brief is as follows:

There is an offer of fifty dollars in every player who hits the Bull sign with a fairly batted fly ball during a regular scheduled league game, and a cartoon of Bull Durham to every player who makes a home run on the field where the Bull Durham sign is located.

The signs were first placed in the parks in 1909. During that year there were fifty-four "Bulls" scattered throughout the country. These "Bulls" were hit fourteen times during the season, making a total of $700.00 distributed to the lucky players. There were four hundred and eighty-seven home runs made in these parks, making a total of 2,435 pounds of tobacco for the heavy hitters.

The 1910 season opened with the number of "Bulls" increased to one hundred and forty-four and there was a corresponding increase in the number of hits that were registered against these signs, the total amounting to eighty-five hits, meaning that the lucky players received $4,750 during last season. There were over two thousand home runs made in these one hundred and forty-four parks, which netted the big stickers the enormous amount of ten thousand pounds, or three carloads of tobacco.

When it came time to open the game it was found that Catterson was not in uniform owing to an injury to his knee. He was called to the field and then presented with a check for $50.

First Inning

There was nothing doing in the first inning. Phoenix opened with a fly to Phibury and Reynolds, flied to Moulton. Kennedy walked to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Briggs flied to Magee.

In the latter half of the inning Moulton drew a free pass and stole second. Dugan struck out and Cooney struck to Carlstrom and was out at first. Magee hit to Welch and failed to reach first.

Second Inning

Two good eggs were registered in the second inning. Grisham hit to Moulton but did not reach first. Carlstrom singled to center field and Hagan hit to Moulton and died at first. Ulrich hit to Moulton and died at first.

In Lowell's half Phibury singled to first base. Wright was the next man to bat and he and Phibury attempted the hit and run play but Wright fanned and Phibury was caught at second. Boutles struck out.

Third Inning

Lawrence scored three runs in the third inning while the home team failed to send a man across the plate. Welch singled and Phoenix followed with a two-bagger. Reynolds singled scoring Welch and Phoenix. Quinn then threw to first base to get Reynolds and threw bad, allowing Reynolds to go to second. Kennedy struck out, but Briggs singled to left field scoring Reynolds. Briggs tried to reach second but was nailed. Crisham struck out.

Huston flied to Briggs and Quinn hit to Welch and failed to reach first. Moulton singled and went to third on a wild pitch. Dugan hit to Hagan and was out at first.

Fourth Inning

Carlstrom hit to Moulton and was out at first. Hagan following with a single. Ulrich singled and Welch hit to Quinn, forcing Hagan at third. At this point Quinn was relegated to the bench and Young put in. Reynolds popped a fly to Young and was third out.

Lowell scored a run in the latter half of the inning. Cooney opened with a two-bagger and Magee drew a base on balls. Phibury tried to sacrifice but bunted to Welch and was the first out. Wright hit to Carlstrom forcing Magee at second. Cooney going to third on the play. Boutles singled to left field, scoring Cooney. Huston hit to Carlstrom, forcing Boutles at second.

Fifth Inning

The first half of the fifth inning was marked by good fielding. Kennedy started by flying to Magee in deep left field. Briggs then hit to Boutles who made a one-hand pickup and threw to Wright who made a one-hand stop. Crisham reached first as a result of fast traveling but he died there for Carlstrom flied to Magee and was third out.

In the latter half of the fifth inning, Young struck out and Moulton singled. Dugan went out on strikes and a few minutes later Moulton was thrown out while trying to steal second.

Sixth Inning

In the sixth inning Hagan singled and went to second on Ulrich's sacrifice. Welch hit to Moulton, the latter making a pretty running catch. Phoenix went out on a fly to Magee. Cooney flied to Carlstrom and Magee hit to Carlstrom and was out at first. Phibury hit to Crisham and was reached at first, Welch covering the bag.

Seventh Inning

Reynolds hit to Cooney and was out at first. Kennedy went out on strikes and Briggs was third out on a fly to Phibury.

Wright hit to Welch and failed to reach first and Boutles flied to Briggs. Huston bunted along the third base line and beat the ball out for a single. Young struck out.

Eighth Inning

Crisham drove the ball with such terrific speed that it nearly took Young's hand off and went into center field. Carlstrom bunted along the first base line and was safe. He stole second. Hagan drew a base on balls filling the bases. Ulrich struck out.

Welch flied to Dugan and Crisham scored on the put out. Phoenix drew a base on balls. Reynolds hit to Moulton forcing Phoenix at second.

Moulton hit to Carlstrom and was out at first. Dugan went out on a fly to Briggs. Cooney hit to Carlstrom and failed to reach first.

Ninth Inning

Kennedy opened the ninth by flying out to Cooney and Briggs following with a home run to left center field. Crisham flied to Cooney. Carlstrom flied to Boutles.

Magee drew a base on balls. Phibury struck out. Wright flied out to Kennedy. Boutles hit to Cooney forcing Magee at second. The score:

DIAMOND NOTES

Lowell at Lawrence today. Special cars to and from.

Tommy Catterson was wreathed in smiles when Manager Gray handed him $50 from the Bull Durham tobacco company. "That'll help the kid out," said Tommy. Catterson lives in Portland, Me., and goes home every Saturday night. His wife is a sister of big Pat Conroy who played first base for the Portland team a few years ago. Pat at present is steward of the Portland Ovis who have a big organization in that city.

If Tom Fleming would tell the rest of us his decisions and not confide them with the pitcher alone, he'd make a good umpire.

Barrows is expected back in the game Monday. 'Tis well.

Artie Welch of Lawrence is some pitcher, believe me.

Jake and Wright made a couple of one hand stops that were fine to behold but exceedingly risky.

"Joe" Donahue, second baseman of the Dartmouth team, has been in town for a few days getting his mouth back in shape. As the result of a foul tip which got him while at bat. He joins the team at Williamstown today.

BOXING GOSSIP

Tom O'Rourke has arranged a match between Morris Harris of Philadelphia and Jim Smith, the Westchester heavyweight, for next Friday night at the National Sporting Club. Morris and Smith recently hooked up at another New York club and the scrap was so sensational that O'Rourke decided to rematch them.

If Jack Britton, the clever Chicago

PRESS ASSOCIATION

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Jimmy McAleer gets away from him. On the bases he is a speed demon, and he hits the ball when runs are needed. His judgment of fly balls to the outfield is something wonderful. In fact, he seems to know just exactly where the ball will land. "If I had two more outfielders like Milan," says McAleer, "I would come pretty near landing the banner."

Lightweight, wins a little more public favor by defeating other local boys here, he will receive an offer to box Freddie Welsh of England at the National Sporting Club, Britton can make 133 pounds ringside, and is ready to meet all comers. Another bout with Paddy McFarland is not impossible.

Numerous boxing men have written to Senator James J. Flawley suggesting an amendment to his bill legalizing sparring contests in the state of New York. They say he should provide for six instead of eight ounce gloves, and they attempt to show that with the heavier mitts knockouts are more probable. John L. Sullivan preferred eight ounce gloves when he toured the country knocking out all comers inside of four rounds. In other respects the Flawley bill meets with general approval.

If Matt Wells does not kick over the weight, 133 at 3, for the bout with K. O. Brown on June 1, it is believed that he will have to weaken himself to scale under the limit. Freddie Welsh says that Wells cannot weigh under 135 pounds without sawing off an arm or a leg. Brown's manager, Dan Morgan, is receiving credit for making a shrewd match in this instance, but Wells, who sails from England tomorrow, has not yet replied to cablegrams setting forth the conditions to which his manager, George McDonald, has agreed.

"They have a wrong idea of the Queensberry rules in this country," says Owen Moran, the English boxer. "The rules state clearly that there must be no holding, but many of the American boxers hold with one hand and hit with the other. In England they dare not employ such tactics. It is all right to keep on hitting at close quarters as long as your hands are free, but the moment a boxer grabs his opponent and hits he is guilty of fouling. The sooner this sort of thing is eliminated the better the sport will thrive, for gentlemen do not care to see rowdy and rough house tactics in the ring."

AT SACRED HEART First Communion Services Tomorrow

Over 550 boys and girls whose ages range from 7 to 11 years will receive first communion at the Sacred Heart church tomorrow, and elaborate plans have been made for the happy event. The children have been receiving instructions for the past month from Very Rev. T. Wade Smith O. M. I. The children will attend 3 o'clock mass and there will be special singing by the youthful communicants. After the service breakfast will be served in the school hall by the Holy Rosary sodality.

At 2 o'clock the first communion children will meet in the church when they will recite the act of consecration, renew their baptismal vows and be enrolled in the brown scapular. In the evening at 6.30 o'clock there will be special service with a procession of the first communicants, and closing with solemn benediction.

At this church tomorrow the nine o'clock mass will be changed to 5.30 o'clock, and the last mass will be at 11 o'clock instead of 10.30, and will be a low mass.

The Children of Mary sodality will have a May party Wednesday evening, May 31, at which the two act sketch, "At the Village Post Office," will be produced. It will be held in the new hall.

Mr. Herve Lussier, of Moody street leaves this morning for the Charles-town navy yard, where he holds a machinist. Mr. Lussier has been employed for some time past as electrician in the Lawrence Mfg. Co., and hopes to join his brother in Newport, R. I.

FOR CLEAN SPORT THE UNVEILING Grammar School League Of Memorial to Queen Victoria Board So Declares

The arbitration board of the Grammar school league, comprising Aldermen John W. Daly, chairman; R. C. Paradis and James Hearn met last evening to consider two protests, "so early in the season."

The Bartlett school lost to the Edsons, Saturday, by a score of 13 to 11, and the Bartletts protested that the Edsons used tactics not in accordance with the rules and that one of the three umpires used his leg to give the shortstop a pucker in the jaw. The board after hearing the evidence unanimously voted to throw out the game and ordered it played over at a time agreeable to all concerned. It was also suggested that in the future no games be begun without an umpire regularly delegated by the league.

Another protest—that of the Colburn school that the game with Varnum school be thrown out—was not heard, as the Varnum team apparently had not been notified of the protest. In this game, Varnum won 14 to 8. Chairman Daly said it was the sense of the board that boys who show a disposition to adopt unfair tactics and to violate the rules of clean sport be expelled from the league, and he expressed the hope that all future games would be contested in the right spirit.

BOARD OF HEALTH Deals With Milk Men and Swill Collectors

The board of health at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon ordered Samuel P. Pike, milk dealer, to clean up his premises in Tewksbury within five days or to refrain from sending milk to this city. Agent Bates and Inspector Dr. Clement Hamblet said that the general condition of the barn was very bad. Mr. Pike was given five days in which to clean up his premises. Henry Silverblatt sought recompense for injury to his horse and carriage through a collision with a team of the board of health. Mr. Silverblatt allowed it would cost $75 to fix things up. Agent Bates allowed that $25 would be enough and now the committee on claims will have to fix the amount of damage.

Roderick Monahan, reported on the collection of swill by persons who have not the necessary license and the licensed collectors who do not do their work well. He mentioned one, Willet, who collected swill at 64 Ford street, and who received empty bottles at the same place. Among other complaints, Mr. Monahan made were that Thomas R. Barge, of Dracut, collected swill without a license, George Southworth, who got swill at 17 and 20 Franklin court, had no license. A man named Little-hale of Tringboro, collected swill at 338 Middlesex street, having no license. George McElroy was doing business in Centralville, and George had no license. John P. Eaton, of Chelmsford, had a license to collect swill all right, but he sold turnips off the same wagon he loaded the refuse into. A great many of the collector's wagons were in an unsanitary condition. The chairman said that all those who had collected swill without a license should be complained of in the police court, while those who possessed licenses and had violated the rules of the department should be brought before the board.

Carl D. Burr, a teacher in the High school, appeared before the board and said that he had been suspended from his duties in school because of the fact that his son is ill with scarlet fever in his home, Clark road. He stated that he had voluntarily gone to a neighbor's house and had stayed there since the diagnosis which showed scarlet fever. It was voted to permit Mr. Burr to resume his school duties on May 15. In the meantime Dr. T. H. Smith, city bacteriologist, will make an examination of the sick boy.

John Boudreau was granted a license to maintain a stable for one horse at 21 Crawford street. Licenses to collect swill were granted to Samuel Silva E. A. Gould, Thomas Varnum and F. E. Putnam.

HEAVY SENTENCE Is Provided Under New Law

According to a law which will go into effect today any person arrested for felony or upon a warrant for an alleged crime, if found guilty is liable to a sentence of not less than one year or more than ten years.

The law reads as follows: "An act relative to the unlicensed carrying of revolvers or pistols in certain cases:—Chapter 211, of the Revised Laws is hereby amended by adding thereto the following new section, Sec. 13—Whoever, when arrested for a felony or upon a warrant for an alleged crime, and whoever when arrested while committing a crime or breach or disturbing the public peace, is armed with a revolver or pistol, having no license to carry the same, shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than one year and not more than 10 years."

FOR NEW CHURCH Merry May Party in Mathew Hall

A delightful May party was held in Mathew hall last evening, under the auspices of the St. Columba's table in aid of the coming St. Columba's bazaar.

A concert program was given from 8 to 12 which included solos by Mrs. F. C. Adams; readings by John Payne; selections, Paragon quartet; duet, Misses Carroll. Dancing was enjoyed from 9 to 12.

PROPOSED SHELTER HOUSE ON SOUTH COMMON

FRONT ELEVATION

Come! man John J. Coughlin is very much interested in the proposition to erect a shelter, gymnasium and bath house on the South common. The proposition was strongly advanced by the last meeting of the common council. Mr. Coughlin displayed a commodious porch, which could be used as shelter places for several hundred children.

Speaking of the proposition to install this combination house on the South common, Mr. Coughlin says: "I wanted the matter brought to the attention of the city government and knew that a special committee would be appointed to consider

Still the street paving lags. Who's to blame?

The present Boston charter will stand for at least another year. It takes five years at least to test a charter properly.

THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The matter of an industrial school seems to have been lost sight of for the moment, but it is one of very great importance that must soon be taken up and solved properly in the interests of the community. The state board of education has investigated the situation in Lowell and understands it thoroughly. The state board is ready to render any assistance in its power as soon as the school board or the city council is ready to take any practical action in the matter.

THREAT FOR POLITICAL EFFECT

Now that the tariff is under discussion in congress, we may expect to hear the friends of excessive protection threaten curtailment. There is nothing in this threat. There has been an attack made upon the woolschedule which would not affect Lowell to any great extent. The statements in regard to curtailment are made for effect. Nobody should be alarmed about them. The mills are working as usual and are likely so to continue.

CUNARDERS FROM BOSTON

The Cunard Steamship company has made an arrangement by which one of its greatest steamers will make regular trips from Boston to Fishguard in Wales, up until July 25th. It would be a great thing for Boston, and it would also be a great convenience to the people of New England if this line were made permanent. The distance from Boston to Fishguard is 2850 miles, practically the same as from New York to Queenstown. Passengers leaving New York could reach London via Queenstown in about the same time as passengers leaving Boston via Fishguard. It is time that some permanent immigration line were established to make regular trips from Boston to the nearest European point. Perhaps one-third of the immigrants from Europe finally pass through Boston, and that is another reason why Boston should be made the terminal of at least one great Trans-Atlantic line.

TO PREVENT CHOLERA INFANTUM

The time is now at hand for all the agencies that operate to prevent cholera infantum to go to work. If a daily or tri-weekly outing could be offered for the mothers with sick babies a vast amount of good might be accomplished. There is a great opportunity for the Lowell Guild to inaugurate a system of children's picnic that would have beneficial results.

With the arrival of hot weather the troubles for the mothers who have children under a year old usually begin. Yet the trouble is not inevitable. The healthy babies that are properly treated will go through it all right. The hot weather does not kill babies, but it brings about dangerous conditions which will prove fatal if the babies are not properly protected.

In hot weather babies suffer as do adults from the heat. Their stomachs are completely upset by exposure to the hot sun; it may be only for a very short space of time. As a result great care is necessary in the preparation of their food. They do not need as much as they would in cold weather. Their stomachs are not as active as in cold weather. Besides the heat will quickly spoil the baby's food.

The great trouble with many mothers having bottle babies is, that they have no refrigerator in which to keep the baby's food cool. They have to prepare the food whenever the baby needs it. That is one great cause of infant mortality, for in such cases condensed milk or some other ready made preparation is used as a matter of convenience, but the baby so treated is not likely to survive the hot weather.

There are many other mothers obliged to go to work during the day and leave their babies in charge of little ones or of some old lady who is hardly fit to move about. That is another great source of infant mortality, for not only are the babies improperly fed but they are often kept out under the broiling sun until their digestive system is completely upset.

Infants, to be well, must be kept reasonably cool, which means that they are not to be swaddled in heavy clothing, nor kept in ill-ventilated kitchens beside hot ranges where food is being cooked. Neither are they to be exposed to the swarms of flies that seem to seek the baby's face and eyes and even its nursing bottle. These flies carry germs of deadly diseases, and it is believed that they are responsible for many of the intestinal troubles to which children are subject in the hot weather.

The Lowell Guild on Dutton street is maintaining a milk depot in which mothers can get modified milk for their babies and be taught how to prepare it themselves together with other important matters for the protection of the babies in hot weather. One important point is to take the babies to the woods in the suburbs or parks where they can enjoy the cool shade and the fresh air. A day spent occasionally in this way will strengthen the baby and increase its power of resistance when sickness comes. If a free car were available every morning about 8 o'clock to take mothers with sick babies to the suburbs a great many lives would be saved in the course of the summer.

If the Lowell Guild could establish a station in some grove in the suburbs and have a special car run there every morning to return about 8 o'clock in the evening it would be a God-send to the poor of Lowell. We see cars donated annually for a "hurrah" people that benefits nobody except those who run it, and if these were given to be run at intervals during the hot spell, the benefit in saving the lives of babies would be astonishing.

There is here a suggestion that some day may be put into practice to lessen the death rate among young children and check the dread scourge of cholera infantum.

The board of health, it seems, should send out literature in divers languages giving instructions for the proper care of infants during the hot weather. Other cities do this, and Lowell should not neglect such an important feature of preventive work in the fight against cholera infantum.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Today always looks mean to the thoughtless, in the face of a dull, experience that all good and great happy actions are made up precisely of these blank to-days."

"All we have have killed or hoped or dreamed of good, shall exist. Not his semblance, but itself, no beauty, nor good, nor power. Whose voice has gone forth, but each survives for the melodist."

When eternity affirms the conception of an hour. The high that proved too high, the heroic for earth too hard, the passion that left the ground to lose itself in the sky. Are music sent up to God by the lover and the bard; Enough that he heard it once; we shall hear it by and by."

"The beauty of work depends upon the way we meet it—whether we are ourselves each morning to attack it as an enemy that must be vanquished before night comes, or whether we open our eyes with the sunrise to welcome it as an approaching friend who will keep us cheerful company all day, and who will make us feel at evening that the day was well worth its fatigues."

"The sweetest sound our whole year knows 'Tis the first robin of the spring: The song of the full orchard choir: Is not so fine a thing."

I long to accomplish great and noble tasks, but it is my duty and joy to accomplish humble tasks as though they were great and noble.—Helen Keller.

A St. Louis prelate is credited with this story, told by him at a recent dinner:

"The head of one of the big trusts arrived at the gate of heaven and, as usual, found St. Peter on watch there. Rather pompously the trust magnate said:

"Pardon, is heaven here?" "It is," said St. Peter. "Step right into the elevator."

After waiting for what seemed a long time the trust president said: "I beg your pardon, but when does this elevator go up?" "It doesn't go up," said the saint. "It goes down as soon as I get a load."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"Silas, my lad," said the greener to his new assistant, "who bought that mouldy cheese today?"

"Miss Brown, sir," was the youth's reply.

"And the stale loaf we could not sell last night?"

"Miss Brown, sir."

"Where's that lump of ranch butter that the baker refused?"

"Miss Brown bought it, sir," was the answer.

"And the six eggs we could not sell a week since?"

"Miss Brown—see you, sir," asked Silas, as the greener turned green and groaned.

"No, no! only I'm going to tea at the Browns' tonight," replied the unhappy man, as he wiped the perspiration from his face and sank into a chair.—Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

A young preacher had been sent out by the state mission board to hold evangelistic meetings in the mountains and at the first one he held he met Lin Dobbins, a tall, lank, rusty-looking individual who immediately conceived a great liking for the preacher, and decided to let his engine go while he followed him. So everywhere the minister went, Lin went too, and he always sat on the front seat with one leg crossed over the other, his chin in his hand, his elbow resting on his knee, looking up at the preacher as if he were some kind of deity.

The young preacher knew very little about the methods of the mountain farmers and their haphazard manner of scratching a living out of the rough hillsides; so when he attempted to use illustrations which he fancied would appeal to their understanding, Lin always became uneasy.

"Let me tell you," said the preacher one night, "of a certain man who had a piece of ground. The snows melted and the ground lay moist beneath the rays of the early spring sunshine. The many voices of awakening life called to the man, but he heeded them not. He failed to plow his ground in due season, and even after the gentle rains came and the land put forth, his land lay still untouched. Seed time passed away, the summer sun poured down upon the ground, and the weeds had grown up in rank profusion. The day of harvest was high at hand, but he had sown nothing. At that late day, what was to be done?"

He seemed to give his words effect, and at this juncture, Lin, who with drooping jaw and open mouth had been all this time, suddenly threw up his head, made a speaking trumpet of his hand, and exclaimed in a very audible stage whisper: "But her in buckwheat!"

The tramp had walked a good three miles and was particularly thirsty. A sudden turn in the road brought him to the foot of a steep hill, at the top of which stood a large house. The tramp paused a moment before attempting the herculean feat of storming the hill. He felt hungry and thirsty.

He glanced to the left. These words caught his eye. "Tarry, traveler and refresh thyself." The tramp was sorry the sign was attached to a pump handle. However, water was better than nothing, so he commenced to pump. The spout remained dry. He pumped with more vigor. Still no water. After 10 minutes of hard work he said harsh things about the pump, and continued his journey.

At the top of the hill he mentioned his predicament to a native. The latter pointed to the fine house across the road. "The owner of that house," he said, "has some big water cisterns which have to be filled from a stream in the valley. He is too lazy to fill 'em himself, so he has rigged up this pump and connected it with his cisterns, and now"—"Tut-tut."

THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE

In the spring the household's fancy lightly turns from pot and pan To the greater economy Of a young unmarried man.

You can hold her through the winter, And she'll work around and sing, But it's just as good as certain she will marry in the spring.

There are daughters in the household Who would welcome Cupid's shaft, But as sure as he projects it The fatality is airt.

You can hold her through the autumn, When the winds begin to sting, But it's safe to lay a wager she will marry in the spring.

There are many gallant fellows Running in and out the front, And a person wouldn't fancy That the rear was in the hunt.

There are seldom indications Of a courtship or a ring, But experience will tell she will marry in the spring.

There is probably an answer That is not far to find, I have often thought upon it: When the servant has resigned, The household daughters, likely, Are not good for anything.

But the cook can cook, and therefore she will marry in the spring.

One dealer in Wayne county, New York, bought 600 chine during the winter, and shipped to New York City over $30,000 worth of furs. Besides 19,000 muskrats and 10,000 skunks, he bought 500 raccoons, 800 minks, 300 red foxes and 500 ermine. "Trapping is still an important trade in the Empire state."

The elements played the French president, M. Poincaré, a good turn during his recent visit to Tunis. Wherever he went he was almost invariably preceded by a rain storm, and it was noticed that crowds of natives assembled to meet him and greet him with great enthusiasm. At one place where there was a crowd of Arabs he entered into conversation with some of them by the aid of an interpreter. They told him that they were very glad to see him because he was wearing green spurs. This remark caused much amusement, until the natives proceeded to explain that visitors were divided into two classes—those who wore green and those who wore red spurs. The former, according to the popular superstition brought with them the rain, which was so beneficial to the crops, while the latter were looked upon with apprehension because of the drought which followed upon their visit.

A London chronicler points out that George is one of the commonest of English names, and will doubtless become even more common now that the fifth George sits upon the throne of England. But there was a time, he says, when the name of George was a symbol of party strife. In the early days of the Hanoverians George favored of Whiggism, while James or Charles bracketed an unashamed espousal of the Jacobite cause.

Rev. Clair E. Ames, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, Hartford, Conn., has resigned, to take effect June 1, intending to enter the "Men and Religion Forward Movement." The end came to Mr. Ames as a surprise, since his appointments by the New York East conference, in early April, when he was reappointed for the fourth year at St. Paul's church. It has not been decided whether he will be assigned to a team of preachers and laymen for visiting large cities, or he stationed in some city like Chicago or St. Louis as a campaign secretary. Mr. Ames will enter upon his new work at the beginning of the coming month.

WILL MAKE TOUR

Appropriations Com. to Look Over Streets

A full attendance of members was present at the meeting of the committee on appropriations at city hall last evening. Alderman Gallagher presiding. It was voted to make a tour of inspection next Tuesday afternoon, the inspection to include streets in which it is proposed to lay macadam as well as streets scheduled for black paving.

The streets in which black paving will be laid are as follows: Gorham street, from Appleton to south line of West Union street.

Dutton street from Merrimack to Broadway.

Merrimack street from Tilden to Cabot.

Merrimack square and East Merrimack street from the Eastern canal to the east line of Howe street.

Middlesex street, from Paysonville to Baldwin, (old granite blocks).

Alderman Daily raised the point that the paving of streets was work which properly belonged to the committee on streets, and he wished to be recorded as against the tour of inspection.

and smiling faced employees to the laboratory at an early hour indicated to the observer that something unusual was about to happen within the walls of the mammoth establishment.

And even so was the fact for 50 years ago today a green-horn country boy from Chelsea, Va., timidly entered a drug store in Lowell to begin a five years apprenticeship for "dollars" a week with nothing stronger to help him out than his health and a determination to make good. Today, half a century afterward that green-horn boy stood in a flower-laden bower within the big building referred to and received the congratulations of his employees, past and present, and a few personal friends, a green-horn no longer but one of America's most widely advertised and most successful business men, Charles I. Hood, of Sarsaparilla fame.

Go into most any remote school in the land and ask the pupils for what is Lowell, Mass., noted and for everyone who says, the textile industry, another will say "Hood's Sarsaparilla," and yet the founder of that great business was once a poor country boy who came alone to the city to shift for himself at the age of 15 years.

Mr. Hood, a few days ago, remarked to one of his foremen that on Saturday, the 13th, he would be 50 years "a working man," having started in as an apprentice on that day. The word was passed to the employees and it was the quick and unanimous decision that the day should be commemorated and a pleasant surprise sprung upon Mr. Hood. A committee was appointed with George H. Taylor, manager of the plant, as chairman, and elaborate plans were secretly formulated and carried out.

In order to keep the matter a complete surprise and get things in readiness it was necessary to invoke the aid of Boston business friends who called Mr. Hood to Boston yesterday and found business enough to keep him there until last evening so that he couldn't go near the plant. Then the decorations were brought in and the main office entrances and Mr. Hood's private office transformed into bowers. The main entrance was draped in the national colors and the stairway leading to the main office was framed in the national colors. Mr. Hood's private office was exquisitely adorned. Over his desk was the inscription in incandescent bulbs "1861-1911." Then the walls were hidden behind graceful vines and streamers of laurel and ferns while on the sills and on tables and even on the floors were huge bouquets of flowers. Among the latter were: bouquet of fifty American beauty roses, from the employees; fifty roses, from Mr. J. P. Knapp and M. W. A. Warner, sales manager of the American Lithographic Co., New York; fifty roses, from Frederick Cameron Church of Lowell; large spray of pink snap-

MRS. DODGE GUILTY

The Jury Returned a Verdict of Manslaughter

GUILDHALL, Vt., May 13.—Hardly a trace of emotion crossed the face of Mrs. Florence Dodge of Lunenburg when in the Essex county court house here today she heard from the lips of the foreman of the jury that she had been found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of William Heath, a painter of Dalton, N. H., who was shot on Sept. 17 last while at work in Mrs. Dodge's home at Lunenburg. Neatly dressed in somber black, Mrs. Dodge stood impassive as the verdict was returned. Then she sank back in her seat between her daughter, Mrs. Ida Bell, who has been her constant attendant during the trial, and one of her attorneys, Harry Blodgett. The imposing of sentence in the case was deferred until next Monday in order to allow Mrs. Dodge's counsel to study the exceptions noted by them during

As Mr. Hood entered the laboratory this morning he was met at the entrance by his employees and escorted amid cheers to his private office where the nature of the event was explained to him and where he found his brother, William Hood of Chelsea, Vt., awaiting him. Mr. William Hood had been let into the secret and came direct to the laboratory without visiting his brother's residence.

A corps of charming young employees of the plant acted as ushers and from 10 to 12 escorted nearly 500 former employees and friends to the recipient of the day's honors who not only had a kind word for all but showed a fine memory for names and faces. Mr. Hood was assisted in receiving by his brother. One of the delightful features of the morning was the complete absence of formality. Mr. Hood upon looking upon his desk as he entered the office saw before him a beautiful silver loving cup of most artistic design, on which was the inscription: "Charles I. Hood, 1861-1911. From employees on the 50th anniversary of his beginning business life in the two weeks that the trial has been in progress. Mrs. Dodge in the meantime was remanded in the custody of the sheriff. Aside from Mrs. Dodge, her counsel, the prosecuting attorneys, relatives of the defendant, court officers and newspapermen, there was hardly anyone in court when the session began this morning despite the fact that it was known almost as a certainty that the jury would report its finding as soon as court was convened.

The jury came into court a few minutes before the regular opening hour of nine. Mrs. Dodge, accompanied by her daughter and the jail matron, had arrived in the room a minute or two earlier. She sat at her accustomed place inside the rail with Mrs. Bell at her left and Attorney Blodgett at her right. Attorney Dale, another of Mrs. Dodge's counsel, was at Mr. Blodgett's right and on the opposite side of the attorney's table, facing Mrs. Dodge, sat the third member of her band of legal advisers, Harlan B. Howe. Behind the rail and directly in the rear of the defendant sat her son-in-law, Julian Bell, and her two sisters, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Bennett.

As soon as the jury had been polled, Mrs. Dodge was asked to stand and the clerk of the court, turning to A. W. Bosworth, foreman of the jury, said:

"Have you agreed on a verdict?"
"We have," was the answer.
"Do you find the respondent, Florence M. Dodge, guilty or not guilty?"
"Guilty."

"Guilty of what?"
"Guilty of manslaughter."

Mrs. Dodge's face might have been a little paler than usual, but she made no sign that the verdict was a shock to her. She seated herself between her daughter and Attorney Blodgett and then gazed fixedly at the floor without saying a word. Judge Alfred Hall, the presiding justice, spoke briefly to the jury, thanking them for their service and the careful attention they had given to the case. After the jury had been discharged, State's Attorney Ames moved that sentence be imposed. Counsel Blodgett was on his feet in an instant with the request that sentence be delayed until he and his associates had an opportunity of looking over the exceptions noted during the trial and reaching a decision regarding what further course, if any, to pursue. Judge Hall asked the attorney if the exceptions had been drawn up and on being told that they had not announced that he would defer pronouncing sentence until next Monday, at which time counsel for the defense must have their list of exceptions drawn up in form to be submitted to the court. The judge then remanded Mrs. Dodge to the custody of the sheriff. It is understood that during the two days intervening before sentence is imposed Mrs. Dodge will have a certain amount of freedom, although necessarily her movements will be restricted.

Mrs. Florence Dodge, the widow of Marshal Dodge of Lunenburg, late high sheriff of Essex Co., was put on trial Monday, May 1, charged with the murder of William Heath, a painter of Dalton, N. H., who was killed while working in a bedroom at Mrs. Dodge's home in Lunenburg on Saturday, Sept. 17, 1910. No one except Mrs. Dodge and Heath was in the house when the shooting occurred, shortly before noon. The wound that killed Heath was caused by one of three revolver shots.

Two bullets struck the floor. A revolver that had belonged to Mrs. Dodge's husband was found on the floor of the room with three of the five cartridges in the cylinder discharged.

Mrs. Dodge is alleged to have claimed immediately after the death of Heath that he had killed himself. An investigation on the part of the authorities resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Dodge on a charge of murder. Just as much as no possible motive for her killing Heath could be shown she was allowed, under a provision of the Vermont statutes, to furnish bail. During the trial, just ended, the defense claimed that Heath's death was the result of an accident. Experts employed by the prosecution declined to say in their opinion Heath could not possibly have committed suicide and most of them discredited the accident theory.

Judge Hall charged the jury that since no motive had been shown, the jury could not find Mrs. Dodge guilty of murder in the first degree.

The case was given to the jury last night after two days and been occupied with the final arguments of the attorneys connected with the case.

NIGHT EDITION

VALUABLE AUTO

Was Badly Damaged by Fire
This Noon

Harold L. Chalfoux's new Buick model 1911 automobile was damaged by fire about 11:40 o'clock at his residence in Wilder street as a result of a back fire. The machine had been taken out of the garage and into the yard to be washed and after having been washed was being taken back to the garage when the fire broke out. One of the occupants of the house telephoned for the fire apparatus but the blaze was extinguished before it arrived.

A telephone alarm followed by a bell alarm from box 415 shortly after noon today was for a brush fire at Stead park. The blaze was extinguished before any damage was done.

Shortly before 12:30 o'clock this afternoon a portion of the fire department was called to the Page farm in Tyngsboro, but the blaze was extinguished without the assistance of the local fire fighters.

An alarm from box 73 at 12:35 this afternoon was for a grass fire on the premises of James McKinley in Manmoth road near the corner of Sixth avenue. The fire was extinguished before any material damage was done.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S TRIP

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Taft left Washington for Newark and New York shortly after noon today, accompanied by Senator Briggs of New Jersey, Rep. McCall of Massachusetts, Secretary Hilles and Major A. W. Bull. The president is scheduled for two speeches tonight, one at the 15th anniversary banquet of St. John's lodge of Masons in Newark and the other at the conference on reform of the criminal law and procedure in New York.

Concord street, opposite James Hick- ey's, April 13, 1911, awarded $75.

William H. Wilder, personal injuries, Merrimack street, near Palmer street, April 29, 1911, awarded $50.

James Cook, personal injuries, January 6, 1911, awarded $25.

Leave to withdraw was voted on the following petitions:

Robert E. Crowley, damage to automobile, corner of Gorham and Middlesex streets, September 13, 1910.

Henry C. Crockett, injury to horse and wagon, corner of Gorham and Middlesex streets, September 19, 1910.

John J. Quinlan, water pipes clogged, Abbott street, June, 1910.

Mary E. Otis, personal injuries, Central and Prescott streets, December 7, 1910.

Frank K. Stearns, salary as chairman of the board of police, 1909 and 1910, $300 being the amount named.

No action was taken on several other claims.

Letter From Employees
The following is the testimonial letter read to Mr. Hood, from the employees:

Lowell, May 13, 1911.
Mr. C. I. Hood, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Mr. Hood: We simply could not allow the 50th anniversary of your beginning work in Lowell to pass without recognition. And so, which it became apparent that your own desire for personal prominence would not permit the carrying out of a celebration as at one time suggested, we, your employees, decided to take the initiative and request you to be our guest for a short time on this 13th day of May, 1911.

Our congratulations are unanimous, our good wishes are sincere. To have lived in the same city for the long period of 50 years is worthy of notice; to have been engaged in business in one place for a half a century is an unusual record; to have followed the same business in the same city for five decades is so remarkable as to deserve special recognition on the part of one's associates and friends. And when that record has been not only successful but in every way honorable and creditable, well may the anniversary event be celebrated with admiration and enthusiasm.

We count ourselves as especially fortunate in having been associated with you in business, so long—from 33, 22 and 27 years, to shorter periods. We recall the agreeable and healthful con-

6 O'CLOCK STATE FORESTER

To Compel City to Appropriate $5000 to Fight Moths

Unless the city council votes an appropriation of $5000 for moth extermination in Lowell, by next Wednesday morning, State Forester Rane will proceed to compel the city to pay that amount. Notice of this action is contained in the following letter received by Mayor Meehan this forenoon:

Office of State Forester,
May 12, 1911.
Hon. John F. Meehan, Mayor,
Lowell, Mass.

My Dear Mayor:—
Upon receiving notice that your city council has refused to vote the necessary money for carrying on the moth work in your city, I took up the matter with Governor Fess and explained the conditions. The governor asked me to take up the matter again with your city council through Your Honor, and say that we very much deplore being compelled to exercise the power given us through Chapter 351, Acts of 1905, as amended by Chapter 265, Acts of 1906, but feel we shall be compelled to do so unless we have a favorable report that the money to the extent of $5000 is forthcoming by next Wednesday morning. Trusting that I may have a favorable report from you, believe me,

Very sincerely yours,
F. W. Rane, State Forester.

CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL COMMISSION

At a meeting of the contagious hospital commission held this forenoon in the mayor's reception room at city hall an agreement, drawn up by the city solicitor and having to do with plans presented by Architect Henry L. Bourke, was signed by three members of the commission, Drs. Martin, McCarty and Lamoureux. Mayor Meehan and Mr. Robinson, the other two members of the commission, were not present but will affix their signatures later. The agreement was also signed by Mr. Bourke, who, if he gets the contract to build the contagious hospital, will receive for plans, specifications, details, contracts and superintendence, five per cent. of the cost of the building. It is agreed that if the plans already submitted by Mr. Bourke are not accepted that he will not receive anything for them, though the plans represent a great deal of labor and a great deal of expense. The agreement is more or less conditional and is open to at least one insertion suggested by Mr. Bourke.

TO COMMAND FLEET

TOKIO, May 13.—Rear Admiral Joseph Mordock arrived here today and will assume command of the American Asiatic fleet, succeeding Rear Admiral Hubbard. Unusual courtesies will be extended by the government on the occasion of the exchange of command while the American battleships are at Yokohama next week. There will be a series of garden parties and dinners for visiting officers.

The special attention to be shown the visitors is intended, it is thought, as further evidence of Japan's appreciation of the recently concluded American Japanese commercial treaty.

BUILDING MATTERS

What the Contractors and Builders Are Doing

The building movement has taken its regular course it seems, after a lull of a couple of weeks. A number of permits were given out this week from the superintendent of buildings' office, and the contractors as well as the architects are kept on the jump.

Mr. John H. Beaulieu, who has purchased the old Merrimack corporations in Prince and Tilden streets, formerly owned by Mr. Sirk, is making preparations for extensive changes in the buildings which comprise some twenty-eight tenements. The inside of the tenements will be remodeled and painted and baths will be installed.

Extensive Repairs
The old Massachusetts corporation in Stackpole street is also undergoing considerable repairs. The 22 tenements from number 22 to 45 have been vacated lately and the work of remodeling was immediately begun. It is expected that everything will be completed in about 10 days, and at that time the edifice will be as good as new, and a better class of tenants will occupy it.

Capt. Brannan is making an addition to his residence in High street. The cellar is now ready and the house will be converted into a two apartment dwelling.

Mr. Thomas Wardell, phonograph dealer in Central street, has moved into his splendid new residence in Tyler park.

Mr. Telephone Faubert of Beaulieu street has purchased a three-apartment house at 135 Cumberland road, formerly owned by Mr. M. Quados. The house is a three-story building with a flat roof, and is situated in a fine

REAL MANUAL TRAINING AT THE BARTLETT SCHOOL

The above picture shows a class of Bartlett school boys of the 6th grade at work in their manual training class. This work is directly in line with the modern ideas of the best educators, of what manual training in the grades should be. At the Bartlett school an attempt is being made to do the work as nearly under the actual conditions of the work shops as is possible. That the work shop side of the affair, rather than the school side be emphasized, both as to the appearance of the class in its work and the results attained. Added to this an attempt is made to make the work of such a character as the child comes in contact with in his every day life—something of vital interest to him—something that he naturally connects with his existence at times when his school may be far from his thought. To attain these ends boys are asked to bring from their own homes some piece of furniture that needs mending—as for instance a chair that needs reupholstering. This work is done in the school under as much direction as is necessary from the manual training teacher. In this way there is no trouble whatever in getting the interest and even enthusiasm of the boys. The work is of some practical value. The hand training is especially valuable to children of this age. The time taken from mental studies is small—interest and enthusiasm leading the boys to do much of the work outside of school hours and the beneficial reaction upon mental work more than making up for actual time taken. Plans are in preparation for pressing such work further at the Bartlett school next year.

MAN AND WIFE PLEAD GUILTY

ALFRED, Me., May 13.—Fred B. Snow, indicted on eight counts for breaking, entering and larceny and two others charging that he obstructed an officer and committed an assault with intent to kill upon an officer when being arrested, and his wife, who was indicted for obstructing an officer, retracted their pleas of not guilty and pleaded guilty in the superior court today. Their cases were continued until September. Mrs. Snow, who was ill, was allowed to go, while Snow was ordered to return to jail to await sentence.

THE KENTUCKY DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—The Kentucky derby, one of the greatest turf classics of America, will be run this afternoon before probably the largest crowd that ever witnessed the race and under circumstances most favorable. The weather is clear and the track is in the condition. Probably greater horses have faced the starter in the Kentucky derby than will start this afternoon but not for years has so evenly matched a field been entered.

BILL LANG WON

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 13.—Bill Lang, the Australian heavyweight, was given the decision over Jack Lester of Cleburn, Wash., today when the latter was disqualified in the sixth round for kneeling. Lester had a slight lead when he dropped to his knees. He had not been hit at the moment and explained that he had twisted his arm. Fifteen thousand persons saw the fight. Lang weighed in at 192 pounds and the American at 170.

"BILL" KELIHER'S APPEAL

BOSTON, May 13.—The appeal of W. J. Keliher from an 18-year state prison sentence for complicity in the looting of the National City bank of Cambridge will not be passed upon by the federal courts until next fall. A rehearing on the appeal will be held in October. On account of the illness of Judge Putnam it was found necessary to postpone the case. The appeal was heard last winter but before a decision was announced one of the justices, Judge Lowell, died, necessitating another hearing. Keliher is in the East Cambridge jail, the government demanding a $50,000 bail bond which he has not succeeded in furnishing.

MOROCCAN SITUATION CRITICAL

PARIS, May 13.—Jean Cruppi, minister of foreign affairs, laid before the cabinet council today despatches from Henri Gaillard, the French consul at Fez, which under date of May 6 described the situation at the Moroccan capital as more nearly critical than before.

Ten thousand rebels attacked the city on May 4 but were repulsed. Agents of the rebellious tribesmen are in Fez trying to undermine the loyalty of the sultan's troops. The sultan has insisted strongly and in writing upon the immediate assistance of France. The reports of French military intervention spread among the natives in Fez are proving a grave menace to foreign interests. After hearing these advices the cabinet gave instructions to General Moinier, commanding the French troops at Casas Blanca, to push forward a column without delay, to raise the siege of Fez.

While the cabinet was in session despatches were received by the minister of war enclosing a message from Col. Mangin, chief of the French military mission at Fez, who pictured the position of the besieged city as perilous in the extreme.

INTERNATIONAL COTTON CONGRESS

BARCELONA, Spain, May 13.—The international cotton congress today decided that the members of all associations affiliated with the general body should buy at least a part of their cotton on the basis of net weight and so oblige the American planter to adopt a new system of baling and preparing cotton. It was determined to appoint a special committee to study the form for a universal contract, equitable for the seller and the buyer.

The congress recommended the development of cotton culture in the East Indies. Resolutions were adopted urging the associations and manufacturers represented to agree to reduce production owing to the situation of the industry.

The international committee was instructed to consider the insertion in the universal uniform contract proposed of a clause providing for the sale of samples of fibres before the contract is accepted. Another condition recommended was to fix the percentages of humidity. The committee is to study the laws of natural absorption of the different fibres and qualities of cotton. It was voted to hold the next congress at The Hague.

THIEVES ESCAPED DETECTIVES

NEWARK, N. J., May 13.—Although private detectives and watchmen were on guard outside and inside, thieves got in to the house of John F. Dryden today and escaped with their plunder uncaught. HARVARD-YALE

Big Track Meet is on Today

NEW HAVEN, May 13.—Individual work is expected to be a factor in the winning of the annual track and field meet between Yale and Harvard on Yale field this afternoon, so close are the forecasts by the knowing ones on each side. Harvard's strength is placed in the longer dashes and the distance runs and the hammer throw, while Yale is confident of winning the largest number of points in the sprints, jumps, pole vault and shotput. A reversal of form as figured out on paper is likely to upset the calculations but at the best Yale and Harvard men agree that the winning margin will be a small one. The Harvard squad came over from New London this forenoon and went out to Yale field for a little practice to get the lay of the track and the condition of the turf.

RECIPROCITY BILL
HEARING WILL BE EXTENDED A FEW DAYS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—All hope of the senate finance committee including this week its hearings on the Canadian reciprocity bill was abandoned today. So prolonged have been the arguments of the objecting farmers' representatives that Chairman Penrose was planning when the session of the committee began today to extend the hearings a few days.

IDEAL WEATHER
For the Yale-Penn. Boat
Race

SPRINGFIELD, May 13.—To see the twentieth century athletic representatives of Eli Yale and William Penn in a test of strength and aquatic skill, there visited this city today several hundred close followers of college rowing for the varsity race between Yale and Pennsylvania. Only college loyalty and devotion to the sport drew these undergraduates here for the afternoon race for there were many other attractions on campus and college field to keep them at their home university. The forenoon conditions for the race indicate ideal weather and water for the afternoon event, which will be started at five o'clock.

The race officials met here in the forenoon, among them being Helmer Robert Herrick, an old Harvard oarsman but now a solid Boston lawyer. Both crews had short spurs in the forenoon but it was merely to keep muscle limber. Pennsylvania, because of her veteran crew, was a first favorite over the green crew from New Haven in what little betting was done.

CRESSON'S PLAN
FOR THE EDUCATION OF SOUTH AMERICANS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—To educate South Americans in the arts and spirit of American diplomacy, William Cresson, chairman of the United States Legation at Lima, Peru, advocates in a despatch to the state department the issuance of a South American supplement by some metropolitan newspaper in this country. He bases his views on the fact that a similar supplement published some time ago by an English paper met with great success in Peru and that the South American governments generally furthered its distribution. The Peruvian government under an agreement extending till 1915, he adds, subscribes to 4000 copies of an English monthly published in Peru by an American journalist.

FINGER PRINTS

IDENTIFICATION OF THE CHIP.
PEWA INDIANS
WASHINGTON, May 13.—Sixty-six Indian fingerprints that had been dipped in red poke-berry juice stained Speaker Champ Clark yesterday when he opened his mail. There were identification marks of 66 Chippewa Indians of the White Earth reservation who had protested proposed legislation affecting Indian lands. The finger prints attested the long list of Indian names, signed by an agent.

LADY DECIES, RECOVERING
LONDON, May 13.—Lady Decies, who underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday, was reported today as making a satisfactory recovery. There will be a high mass of requiem at St. Peter's church, May 14, morning at 8 o'clock, for the repose of the soul of Harry Downs.

LATEST MADERO ARRESTED

Trouble in the Ranks of the Mexican Insurrectos

JUAREZ, May 13.—Rebellion with in the ranks of the Madero army this morning resulted in the declaring under arrest of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., provisional president, the demand and the acceptance of the demand that Madero's cabinet resign, and for two hours threatened the destruction of the Juarez army as a concrete fighting force.

The insurrection broke in the ranks of General Orozco one of the fighting leaders of the Madero army and was headed by Orozco himself. A demand was made upon Provisional President Madero for food and money for his ragged and hungry soldiers. Madero was unable to satisfy these demands at the time but his explanations were preemptorily thrown aside by the belligerent leader Orozco and his soldiers and Madero was declared under arrest.

Approximately definite figures of the casualties of the three days' fighting in Juarez this week have been reached by a careful checking of the burials and of the hospitals both here and in El Paso by Provisional Governor Gonzalez. This includes not only the insurrectos and federals but the volunteers who fought with the federals in Juarez and a number of citizens shot in the streets or in their own homes during the battle. The insurrecto loss is reported at 15 killed and about 50 wounded. The federal loss is given at 100 killed and 187 wounded.

WILLIAMS IS WORLD'S CHAMPION

LONDON, May 13.—Charles Williams, the Harrow school professional, captured the world's racquet championship and a side bet of $2000 today when he won the first set in the second half of his match with Jamsetji of Bombay. The score was 15 to 7. The first half of the match was played at the Queen's club on April 29, when Williams walked off with four straight games.

GUPPY HAD NARROW ESCAPE

SOUTH FREEPORT, Me., May 13.—The near tropical storm which struck western Maine last night was responsible for the loss of a motor boat load of furniture belonging to C. W. Newhall, a Boston traveling salesman, and the narrow escape from death of the owner, George Guppy, who was forced to swim nearly a mile while lightning flashes lighted his way. Mr. and Mrs. Newhall took another launch earlier and thus reached their summer home on Bustings island before the storm broke. Guppy was half way between Bustings island and Wolf's neck when his heavily laden 30-footer was overturned by the gale and he was forced to strike out for shore, swimming to Bustings island. The furniture was lost but the boat drifted ashore today in a damaged condition.

Several large elm trees in Freeport were blown down and other damage of a minor nature was done.

MEANS LOSS OF $2,000,000

NORFOLK, Va., May 13.—The sinking of the Ward line steamer Merida early yesterday by the steamer Admiral Farragut off the Virginia Capes will cause a loss of approximately $2,000,000, according to an estimate made by H. E. Cabaud, general agent of the owning company, who arrived here today from New York city. Mr. Cabaud said that the Merida, valued at about $1,500,000, was insured, and that the cargo and effects of passengers, valued at probably $750,000, were presumably insured.

Passengers and officers of the lost Merida to the number of 144 persons left here today by rail for New York. Only eleven of the passengers remained here. Ten of these constituted the party of August Peon, a wealthy land proprietor of Yucatan, Mexico, whose wife was the only person on the Merida who was seriously injured. Mrs. Peon, at first thought to be fatally hurt, was pronounced today not to be in as serious a condition as originally reported.

STOCK MARKET

WAS HEAVY AND DULL AT THE CLOSE TODAY

Business Was Featureless in the Final Hour—The More Active Stocks Continued Under Pressure—Other Features of the Day's Trading

NEW YORK, May 13.—The dropping tendency was apparent in the early trading on the stock market today although changes were small. The heaviest loser was Sloss Sheffield Steel, which receded 1/2. Union Pacific fell back 1/2 and Western Maryland advanced the same amount.

Trading diminished steadily until there was scarcely a semblance of life to the market. Fluctuations were in keeping with the sluggishness of the list, none of the speculative favorites varying more than a small fraction. The tendency was upward, with United States Steel and St. Paul rising to above yesterday's closing.

The market closed heavy and dull. Business was quite featureless in the final hour, the only noteworthy exception being Philadelphia company, which gained 3/4 and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, which was up 1/4. The more active issues such as U. P. and Reading continued under pressure.

Money Market

NEW YORK, May 13.—Prime mercantile paper 3 1/4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady at 48.50 for 60 day bills and at 48.40 for demand. Commercial bills 48 1/2. Bar silver 53 1/2. Mexican dollars 45. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular. Money on call nominal. Time loans firmer, 60 days 2 1/2, 90 days 2 3/4, six months 3.

THE GILBRIDE CO.

Holds Its Great Anniversary Sale

The third anniversary sale at our department store was the event of the season. Our previous anniversary sales have always fully come up to our expectations, but this one seems to have far exceeded our most sanguine expectations, having had the benefit of two previous anniversary sales and thereby convinced the trading public of this city and vicinity. The large page adv. in Wednesday's issue of The Sun, must have been very closely read by the shrewd and saving people, and after reading wonderful prices affixed to the various items they realized that there was no better way to make money than by saving money on all purchases. They certainly responded nobly to the call, as from the moment the doors were opened, it looked like a busy hive of industry, and our clerks were a tired lot when the day's business came to a close.

Thousands of people profited by their purchases, and it has been clearly demonstrated at this sale that all that is necessary to make business lively is to make goods and prices right, and at the Gilbride Company's store they certainly did this, and their customers are well aware that when they call at the store they will be able to get what is advertised and in abundant supply. The pruning knife has been used on every article, and the people readily and cheerfully left the store with a supply of merchandise that will last them for many months. These goods are all of the best quality.

There are no shop-worn goods for the Gilbride Company does not allow its merchandise to lie around long enough to get shop worn. The sale will continue for a few more days. If you have not attended the sale, do so today, for it certainly is a mecca for bargains.

Mr. John J. Burns, the manager, is certainly on to his job, and he knows how to bring out a crowd. He is the right man in the right place.

JEWS ALARMED

Think Massacre Is Set for Tomorrow

MOSCOW, May 13.—Today's papers report that an agitation for a massacre of Jews is perceptible at Kiev, where many Jews, alarmed, are pawning their property in preparation for flight. The papers state that the massacre appears to have been set for tomorrow and that the agitation followed a rumor alleging the ritualistic killing of a boy last March.

A NEW ERA

IN THE COMMERCIAL HISTORY OF PROVIDENCE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 13.—A new era in the commercial history of Providence was begun today when the Fair Isle steamer Madonna steamed up the harbor inaugurating a direct trans-Atlantic service between this port and the Mediterranean. The Madonna is the largest steamship that ever entered this port. Every crate which hoisted off a wharf joined in one inharmonious outburst of welcome as the big vessel with Captain W. T. Dodge, her Black Island pilot at the wheel, came up Narragansett bay to her dock at Fox point. Immediately upon her arrival the steamer was opened to the inspection of the public and later a reception and luncheon at which Gov. Peabody, Mayor Fletcher and other prominent men of the city and state were the guests, was held on board. The Madonna planned to sail late this afternoon for the Azores, Lisbon and Marseilles.

THE INFORMER

Says That He Was in Fear of the Camorristi

VITERBO, Italy, May 13.—The crown prosecutor today asked that Gennaro Abbatemaggio be indicted as an accomplice in the murder of Gennaro Cuocolo and his wife. The request was founded on admissions made by Abbatemaggio during the session of the camorrist trial when he was again confronted by Enrico Alfano, charged with being the actual head of the camorrist society. President Bianchi declined to make such an order. Today's exchange between Abbatemaggio and Alfano had to do chiefly with the actual murder of the Cuocolos. The informer repeated the circumstances already known. Alfano replied that he could only imagine that the accuser had had bad dreams.

When Abbatemaggio said that he had with others been equally selected as one of the assassins but withdrew from participation in the crime because of his horror of the taking of human life, a lawyer for the defense asked:

"Then why, if you were so horrified, did you not warn Cuocolo of the plot against him by means of an anonymous letter?"

"Because," answered the witness, "the camorra would have suspected and punished me."

"Why was your share of the reward for the crime $50 while the actual murderers received only $20 each?"

"Because either the camorrist feared me, or thought me useful."

It was this last statement of the informer that led the crown prosecutor to ask for his indictment.

THE BACHELORS SUPT. WHITCOMB

Scored Another Big Hit in Wakefield

The Twentieth Century Bachelor club minstrels scored another great success in Wakefield last night when under the auspices of the famous Sherwood club of that town they presented their grand minstrel overture before an audience that taxed the seating capacity of the town hall. People were present from all the surrounding towns and enjoyed to the fullest extent the various numbers on the program. The stage setting was very elaborate, the beautiful garden scene calling forth loud applause from the audience. The setting was arranged by Frank McCarthy, stage manager of the company. Every selection was encoored and the chorus singing has never been equaled by this clever aggregation of singers and comedians. There were three voices under the direction of Charles D. Slattery with Prof. Richard Noonan, presiding at the piano. The Wakefield people pronounced it one of the best attractions that has been in the town and the local hits were greatly enjoyed. The "boys" never showed the vim in their work that they did last night and it is safe to say that should the piece be repeated here in Lowell with the same activity and ease as marked last night's performance the largest hall in this city would be crowded to the doors.

The program was as follows: Opening Chorus. Entire company "With All Her Faults I Love Her Still." George B. Rogers "Put On Your Glad Rags." "Roses." Jas. E. Donnelly "Hot Dog Man." Patrick Mulvanity "Trile, Messes, Gokohn, Dalton and Shea." "Your Eyes Have Told Me So." Frank A. Connor "Listen to the Jungle Band." Luke McDonald "Mary Ann." Ed. F. Shea "Topical Song." Wm. Marren "A Son of the Desert Am I." Wm. Gookin "Truly Rural." Frank McGinlin "My Hero." John J. Dalton "Finale—Good Time Town." John J. Gleason

BOSTON, May 13.—That from the standpoint of ventilation the little schoolhouse of the often days was superior to modern school buildings with their system of shooting currents of warm and cold air through crowded school rooms, was the contention of Arthur K. Whitcomb, superintendent of schools of Lowell, at the eighty-eighth meeting of the New England association of school superintendents in Latin school hall yesterday afternoon.

His remarks, which outlined the general discussion of the topic of the meeting followed the reading of several interesting papers, were offered in opposition to those of a preceding speaker.

The general discussion followed an address by Professor Ellwood P. Cubberley of Leland Stanford University, and was participated in by Superintendents Edgarly of Pileburg, Hartford of Chelsea, Jacoby of Milton, Mason of North Andover, Baldwin of Haverhill, Dempsey of Malden and Parkins of Waltham.

GREAT MARATHON RACE

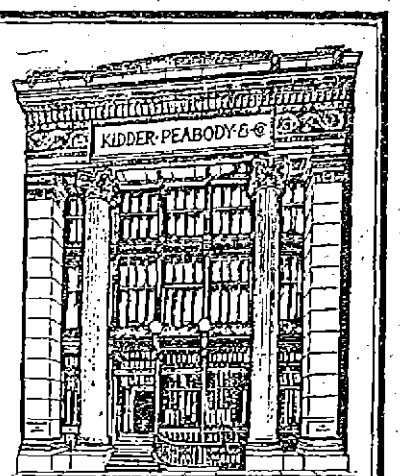

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—Thirty-six local and visiting long distance runners were scheduled to start at noon today from Freeburg, Ill., on the seventh annual Marathon race under the auspices of the Missouri A. C. The distance will be 26 miles and 385 yards.

GRAND CONCERT

TO BE HELD IN HATHAWAY'S THEATRE TOMORROW NIGHT

The concert in aid of the Immaculate Conception church tomorrow night will be held in Hathaway's theatre and the best local talent will appear. The program arranged by Jos. Courtney, director of the church choir, is one of unusual excellence and should appeal to all lovers of music. Miss Mary E. Joyce will be the reader and there will be both vocal and instrumental selections.

A HUGE SPRING

Has Been Discovered in Salem

SALEM, May 13.—The water famine that has threatened this city and which has made it necessary for the streets to go unwatered, except with injurious salt water, has been relieved, and the citizens are grateful for the chance discovery of a huge spring of water beneath the piping in one of the main streets.

Although the spring, which is estimated to have a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons a day, will not add to the city's drinking water supply, it relieves the necessity of sprinkling the streets with salt water, and already work is going on on a tank or reservoir that will hold what water is not immediately needed.

When the city began to use salt water in the emergency owners of horses protested because the salt was injurious to the animals' feet.

And simultaneously another class of protests appeared—from owners of property on which trees are planted. These claimed the salt injured or destroyed the foliage.

The discovery was made when city workmen dug beneath the present water or sewer pipes and suddenly tapped the spring.

SET HOUSE AFIRE

Youth Wanted to See It Burn

BELLMORE, L. I., May 13.—William Mohrman, a bashful, typical village boy, son of Henry Mohrman, a baker of Bellmore, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice Corcoran Norton, charged with setting fire to the Long Island railroad freight house near the bakery, early yesterday morning.

"Did you do this, Will?" the justice asked.

"Yes, I did it," the boy replied, hanging his head. "I did it. I wanted to see a fire."

There have been a number of incendiary fires in Bellmore in the last two months, all at night, and some of them have been discovered by the older Mohrman. Young Mohrman was asked if he had started other fires, but would not answer.

Mohrman is 19 years old, a thin, narrow-shouldered, sallow-cheeked youth, who hasn't had much time to play with other boys since he got big enough to work. The neighbors looked upon him as a model boy. The Long Island railroad detectives believe that he is a pyromaniac.

MAN PERISHED

In a Barn Fire at Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. H., May 13.—A destructive fire occurred at Middleton corner yesterday afternoon when the large farm buildings of Henry Willey were totally destroyed, and James I. Dow, about 50 years old, a neighbor who was employed on the farm, was burned to death. Two valuable horses, one hog and a number of hens also perished.

Mr. Dow worked at plowing in the forenoon and after dinner went to the barn, as was his custom, to take a nap. It is supposed that he slumbered on the hay mow, the hay lighting from the pipe which he was smoking, causing him to lose his life.

Mr. Willey discovered the fire when the barn was enveloped in flames, which quickly spread to the house. Little furniture was saved.

In the barn besides the live stock were five tons of hay, three carriages and farming tools, all of which were lost. The loss will be about $2000, with small insurance.

Mr. Dow had been a resident of Middleton for six years, coming here from South Seabrook, N. H., and his only relative is a brother, Enoch, whom the authorities are trying to locate. Medical Referee Forrest L. Keay of this city viewed the body last night, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The neighbors made an effort to extinguish the flames with chemicals, but were unsuccessful.

Mr. Willey, while trying to move furniture from the house, was badly burned about the head and face.

DEATHS

WILTANK.—Mrs. Maria Wiltbank, formerly of Lowell died last night at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Clark in Oliston Mass., aged 61 years. The deceased lived in Lowell until a short time ago, when her health broke down and she went to live with Mrs. Clarke. She was a devout attendant of St. Michael's church, and leaves a host of friends who will mourn her loss.

MELLEN.—Died in Chelmsford, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Adams, Mrs. Cynthia Mellen, aged 75 years. Besides Mrs. Adams she leaves another daughter, Mrs. Samuel Mussey of Newton. Mrs. Mellen was the widow of the late James Mellen, and before his death they had always lived in Lowell. The funeral will take place Monday at 2 p. m. from the home of her daughter in Chelmsford.

FUNERALS

ESPINOZA.—The funeral of Oleviera Espinoza, child of Manuel and Rosa Espinoza, took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of her parents, 100 Factor's avenue, and was largely attended. Services were conducted at St. Anthony's church at 3 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Rosa. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott.

PURCELL.—The funeral of the late Thomas Purcell took place Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott. Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery.

CONNOLLY.—The funeral of the late Joseph Connolly took place this morning from the chapel of Jns. McKenna, and the cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church, where at 9 o'clock high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Francis J. Mullin. The choir, under the direction of Thos. P. Boulger, sang the Gregorian chant, Miss Carolyn White at the organ. The remains were taken on the 10:43 o'clock train for Boston, from which place they will be brought to Waltham for burial in the family lot in Calvary cemetery, by Funeral Director James W. McKenna.

REED.—The funeral services of Mrs. Melissa J. Reed were held at the residence of her son, Mr. Bird C. Reed, 75 First street, at 9 o'clock today. Rev. J. M. Craig, who was the officiating clergyman offered consoling words to those who are left to mourn the loss of the dear departed. Miss Wright sang "The Home-land," "Grace to Face," and "Sometimes We'll Understand." The floral tributes were: Willow, inscribed "Mother," son of the deceased; wreath inscribed "Grandma," Lewis, Chester, Frank and Pauline, Reed, grandchildren of deceased; standing cross, Mrs. Melville, grandchild of deceased; spray of pinks, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Turner, spray Mrs. Norwood and son; spray, Mrs. Bottomley and daughter. The bearers were Lewis, Chester and Frank Reed and R. J. Norwood. Burial was at Mt. Peake cemetery, Waltham, Mass. Undertaker C. M. Young in charge.

WELCH A PUZZLE

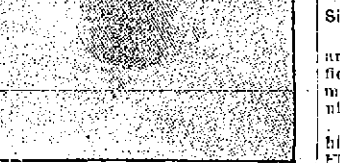

Lawrence Pitcher Had Lowell Batters' Goats

Yesterday was a gala day at Spaulding park, for it marked the occasion of the first player in the New England league to win the "Bull" and receive the $50 advertised extensively by the Bull Durham people.

Since the "Bull" game has been established in the New England league, according to the company's record no New England league player has succeeded in hitting the "Bull" and hence the skeptical ones didn't know whether the "Bull" was a Bull or not. The company had faithfully handed out carton after carton of tobacco to home run hitters but no one had ever received the $50.

But on the beautiful May day, the first day of that exquisite month, the Lawrence team came here with a young club artist in left field named Tommy Catterson. All last season Tommy with others had tried in vain to hit the animal in centre field but was unsuccessful. But it seems it occurred to the "Bull" that he was grabbing the ball players by reminding stationery in centre field and incidentally interfering with some advertisements down in that section so he shifted to right field and there Tommy Catterson caught him when he wasn't looking and swat him in about the fifth rib, getting a three-bagger and 50 bucks.

In honor of the event the Bull Durham people sent a representative and a photographer along to see that Tommy got his all right, while the sporting editor of The Sun was sent a check to hand to Tommy with the understanding that he make a nice little speech in presenting it. The sporting editor ducked the job and the banded it to Manager Gray, who is just as eloquent and better fitted in size to get within the focus of a snap-shot camera and so when Tommy came to the plate Mr. Gray, immaculately attired as usual, proceeded to the front and made his little speech which a contrary wind stopped the writer from getting. It was a good speech, however, its principal feature being its brevity.

The history of the "Bull" signs in brief is as follows:

There is an offer of fifty dollars to every player who hits the Bull sign with a fairly batted fly ball during a regular scheduled league game; and a carton of Bull Durham to every player who makes a home run on the field where the Bull Durham sign is located. The signs were first placed in the parks in 1905. During that year there were fifty-four "Bulls" scattered throughout the country. These "Bulls" were hit fourteen times during the season, making a total of $700.00 distributed to the lucky players. There were four hundred and eighty-seven home runs made in these parks, making a total of 2,435 pounds of tobacco for the lucky hitters.

The 1910 season opened with the number of "Bulls" increased to one hundred and forty-four and there was a corresponding increase in the number of hits that were registered against these signs, the total amounting to eighty-five hits, meaning that the lucky players received $1,225 during last season. There were over two thousand home runs made in these one hundred and forty-four parks, which netted the big slickers the enormous amount of ten thousand pounds, or three carloads of tobacco.

When it came time to open the game it was found that Catterson was not in uniform owing to injury to his knee. He was called to the field and there presented with a check for $50.

First Inning
There was nothing doing in the first inning. Phoenix opened with a fly to Fluharty and Reynolds fled to Moulton. Kennedy walked to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Briggs fled to Marge.

In the latter half of the inning Moulton drew a free pass and stole second. Dugan struck out and Cooney struck to Carlstrom and was out at first. Marge hit to Welch and failed to reach first.

Second Inning
Two goose eggs were registered in the second inning. Grisham hit to Cooney but did not reach first. Cooney from singled to centre field and Hagan hit to Boules and died at first. Ulrich hit to Moulton and died at first. Ulrich hit to Moulton and died at first.

In Lowell's half Fluharty singled by first base. Wright was the next man to bat and he and Fluharty attempted the hit and run play but Wright fanned and Fluharty was caught at second. Boules struck out.

Third Inning
Lawrence scored three runs in the third inning while the home team failed to send a man across the plate. Welch singled and Phoenix followed with a two bagger. Reynolds singled. Cooney walked and Phoenix. Quinn then threw to first base to get Reynolds and threw bad, allowing Reynolds to go to second. Kennedy struck out but Briggs singled to left field scoring Reynolds. Briggs tried to reach second but was nipped. Crisham struck out.

Huston died to Briggs and Quinn hit to Welch and failed to reach first. Moulton singled and went to third on a wild pitch. Dugan hit to Hagan and was out at first.

Fourth Inning
Crisham hit to Moulton and was out at first. Hagan following with a single. Ulrich singled and Welch hit to Quinn, forcing Hagan at third. Phoenix singled, scoring Ulrich. At this point Quinn was relegated to the bench and Young put in. Reynolds popped a fly to Young and was third out.

Lowell scored a run in the latter half of the inning. Cooney opened with a two bagger and Marge drew a base on balls. Fluharty tried to sacrifice but bunted to Welch and was the first out. Wright hit to Carlstrom forcing Marge at second. Cooney going to third on the play. Boules singled to left field, scoring Cooney. Huston hit to Carlstrom, forcing Boules at second.

Fifth Inning
The first half of the fifth inning was marked by good fielding. Kennedy started by flying to Marge in deep left field. Briggs then hit to Boules who made a one-hand pickup and threw to Wright who made a one-hand stop. Crisham reached first as a result of fast traveling but he died there for Carlstrom fled to Marge and was third out.

In the latter half of the fifth inning, Young struck out and Moulton singled. Dugan went out on strikes and a few minutes later Moulton was thrown out while trying to steal second.

Sixth Inning
In the sixth inning Hagan singled and went to second on Ulrich's sacrifice. Welch hit to Moulton, the latter making a pretty running catch. Phoenix went out on a fly to Marge.

Cooney fled to Carlstrom and Marge hit to Carlstrom and was out at first. Fluharty hit to Crisham and was first out at first. Welch covering the bag.

Seventh Inning
Reynolds hit to Cooney and was out at first. Kennedy went out on strikes and Briggs was third out on a fly to Fluharty.

Wright hit to Welch and failed to reach first and Boules fled to Briggs. Huston bunted along the third base line and was out at first. Young struck out.

Eighth Inning
Grisham drove the ball with such terrific speed that it nearly took Young's hand off and went into centre field. Carlstrom bunted along the first base line and was safe. He stole second. Hagan drew a base on balls filling the bases. Ulrich struck out.

Welch fled to Dugan and Crisham scored on the put out. Phoenix drew a base on balls. Reynolds hit to Moulton forcing Phoenix at second.

Moulton hit to Carlstrom and was out at first. Dugan went out on a fly to Briggs. Cooney hit to Carlstrom and failed to reach first.

Ninth Inning
Kennedy opened the ninth by flying out to Cooney and Briggs followed with a home run to left centre field. Crisham fled to Cooney. Carlstrom fled to Boules.

Marge drew a base on balls. Fluharty struck out. Wright fled out to Kennedy. Boules hit to Cooney forcing Marge at second. The score:

DIAMOND NOTES

Lowell at Lawrence today. Special cars to and from.

Tommy Catterson was wreathed in smiles when Manager Gray handed him $50 from the Bull Durham tobacco company. "That'll help the kid out," said Tommy. Catterson lives in Portland, Me., and goes home every Saturday night. His wife is a sister of Pat Conroy, who played first base for the Portland team a few years ago. Pat at present is steward of the Portland Owls who have a big organization in that city.

If Tom Fleming would tell the rest of us his decisions and not confide them with the pitcher alone, he'd make a good umpire.

Barrows is expected back in the game Monday. 'Tis well.

Artie Welch of Lawrence is some pitcher, believe me.

Jack and Wright made a couple of one hand stops that were fine to behold but exceedingly risky.

"Joe" Donahue, second baseman of the Dartmouth team, has been in town for a few days getting his mouth back in shape as the result of a foul tip which got him while at bat. He joins the team at Williamstown today.

AMATEUR GAMES TODAY

BOXING GOSSIP

Tom O'Rourke has arranged a match between Morris Harris of Philadelphia and Jim Smith, the Westchester heavyweight, for next Friday night at the National Sporting club. Morris and Smith recently hooked up at another New York club and the scrap was so sensational that O'Rourke decided to rematch them.

PRESS ASSOCIATION

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Jimmy McAleer says that Clyde Milan, who favors around in center for the Senators, is the greatest outfielder in the game today, bar none. The manager of the local club says that Milan has pulled off more sensational catches than any other player in the country—not occasionally, but daily. Nothing ever gets away from him. On the bases he is a speed demon, and he hits the ball when runs are needed. His judgment of fly balls to the outfield is something wonderful. In fact, he seems to know just exactly where the ball will land. "If I had two more outfielders like Milan," says McAleer, "I would come pretty near landing the banner."

lightweight, wins a little more public favor by defeating other local boys here, he will receive an offer to box Freddie Welsh of England at the National Sporting club. Britton can make 133 pounds ringside, and is ready to meet all comers. Another bout with Paaky McFarland is not impossible.

Numerous boxing men have written to Senator James J. Frawley suggesting an amendment to his bill legalizing sparring contests in the state of New York. They say he should provide for six instead of eight ounce gloves, and they attempt to show that with the heavier mitts knockouts are more probable. John L. Sullivan preferred eight ounce gloves when he toured the country knocking out all comers inside of ten rounds. In other respects the Frawley bill meets with general approval.

If Matt Wells does not kick over the weight, 133 at 2, for the bout with K. O. Brown on June 1, it is believed that he will have to weaken himself to scale under the limit. Freddie Welsh says that Wells cannot weigh under 135 pounds without saving off an arm or a leg. Brown's manager, Dan Moran, is receiving credit for making a shrewd match in this instance, but Wells, who sails from England tomorrow, has not yet replied to cablegrams setting forth the conditions to which his manager, George McDonald, has agreed.

"They have a wrong idea of the Queensberry rules in this country," says Owen Moran, the English boxer. "The rules state clearly that there must be no holding, but many of the American boxers hold with one hand and hit with the other. In England they dare not employ such tactics. It is all right to keep on hitting at close quarters as long as your hands are free, but the moment a boxer grabs his opponent and hits he is guilty of fouling. The sooner this sort of thing is eliminated the better the sport will thrive, for gentlemen do not care to see rowdy and rough house tactics in the ring."

AT SACRED HEART
First Communion Services Tomorrow

Over 550 boys and girls whose ages range from 7 to 11 years who have received their first communion at the Sacred Heart church tomorrow, and elaborate plans have been made for the happy event. The children have been receiving instructions for the past month from Very Rev. T. Wade Smith O. M. I. The children will attend 8 o'clock mass and there will be special singing by the youthful communicants. After the service breakfast will be served in the school hall by the Holy Rosary sodality.

At 2 o'clock the first communion children will meet in the church when they will recite the act of consecration, renew their baptismal vows and be enrolled in the brown scapular. In the evening at 6:30 o'clock there will be a special service with a procession of the first communicants, and closing with solemn benediction.

At this church tomorrow the nine o'clock mass will be changed to 5:30 o'clock, and the last mass will be at 11 o'clock instead of 10:30, and will be a low mass.

The Children of Mary sodality will have a May party Wednesday evening, May 31, at which the two act sketch, "At the Village Post Office," will be produced. It will be held in the new hall.

Mr. Herve Lussier, of Moody street leaves this morning for the Charles town navy yard, where he enlists as a machinist. Mr. Lussier has been employed for some time past as electrician in the Lawrence Mfg. Co., and hopes to join his brother in Newport, R. I.

Grammar School League Of Memorial to Queen Victoria Board So Declares

The arbitration board of the Grammar School League, comprising Aldermen John W. Daly, chairman; R. C. Paradis and James Hearn met last evening to consider two protests, "The Dartlett school lost to the Edsons, Saturday, by a score of 12 to 1, and the Bartlett protested that the Edsons used tactics not in accordance with the rules and that one of the three umpires used in the game gave the shortstop a pucker in the jaw." The board after hearing the evidence unanimously voted to throw out the game and ordered it played over at a time agreeable to all concerned. It was also suggested that in the future no games be begun without an umpire regularly delegated by the league.

Another protest—that of the Colburn school that the game with Varnum school be thrown out—was not heard, as the Varnum team apparently had not been notified of the protest. In this game, Varnum won, 14 to 8.

Chairman Daly said it was the sense of the board that boys who show a disposition to adopt unfair tactics and to violate the rules of clean sport be expelled from the league, and he expressed the hope that all future games would be contested in the right spirit.

BOARD OF HEALTH
Deals With Milk Men and Swill Collectors

The board of health at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon ordered Samuel P. Pike, milk dealer, to clean up his premises in Tewksbury within five days or to refrain from sending milk to this city. Agent Bates and Inspector Dr. Clement Hamblet said that the general condition of the barn was very bad. Mr. Pike was given five days in which to clean up his premises.

Henry Silverblatt sought recompense for injury to his horse and carriage through a collision with a team of the board of health. Mr. Silverblatt allowed it would cost $75 to fix things up. Agent Bates allowed that $25 would be enough and now the committee on claims will have to fix the amount of damage.

Roderick Monahan, reported on the collection of swill by persons who have not the necessary license and the licensed collectors who do not do their work well.

He mentioned one, Willet, who collected swill at 61 Ford street, and received empty bottles at the same place. Among other complaints Mr. Monahan made were that Thomas Borge, of Dracut, collected swill without a license, George Southworth, who got swill at 17 and 20 Franklin court, had no license. A man named Little-hale of Tyngsboro, collected swill at 88 Middlesex street, having no license. George McElroy was doing business in Centralville, and George had no license.

John P. Eaton, of Chelmsford, had a license to collect swill all right, but he sold turnips off the same wagon he loaded the refuse into. A great many of the collector's wagons were in an unsanitary condition. The chairman said that all those who had collected swill without a license should be complained of in the police court, while those who possessed licenses and had violated the rules of the department should be brought before the board.

Carl D. Burr, a teacher in the High school, appeared before the board and said that he had been suspended from his duties in school because of the fact that his son is ill with scarlet fever in his home, Clark road. He stated that he had voluntarily gone to a neighbor's house and had stayed there since the diagnosis which showed scarlet fever. It was voted to permit Mr. Burr to resume his school duties on May 16. In the meantime Dr. T. B. Smith, city bacteriologist, will make an examination of the sick boy.

John Boudreau was granted a license to maintain a stable for one horse at 24 Crawford street.

Licenses to collect swill were granted to Manuel Silva E. A. Gould, Thomas Varnum and F. E. Putnam.

HEAVY SENTENCE
Is Provided Under New Law

According to a law which will go into effect today any person arrested for felony or upon a warrant for an alleged crime, if found guilty is liable to a sentence of not less than one year or more than ten years.

The law reads as follows: "An act relative to the unlicensed carrying of revolvers or pistols in certain cases:—Chapter 211, of the Revised Laws is hereby amended by adding thereto the following new section, Sec. 13—Whoever, when arrested for a felony or upon a warrant for an alleged crime, and whoever when arrested while committing a crime or breach or disturbing the public peace, is armed with a revolver or pistol, having no license to carry the same, shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than one year and not more than ten years."

FOUR INDICTED GREAT FESTIVAL

As Result of Lawrence Paving Block Inquiry

NEWBURYPORT, May 12.—The Essex county grand jury made a partial report to Judge Schofield at 4 yesterday afternoon. Chief interest centers in the Lawrence cases, which the jury has been considering for some time.

Indictments were returned against Fred L. Snow, a contractor; Patrick Lyon, superintendent of streets; Philip Holland, contractor, and Michael J. Flynn, street department clerk, alleging conspiracy. No bill was returned against John P. Keno of Lawrence.

It is understood that the Lawrence indictments were in connection with the paving block contracts and that they were agreed to by the jury last Friday. A number of Lawrence officials, and business men were examined relative to other purchases made for the city of Lawrence and the election of certain officials. The probing was not concluded when the jury reported and it will meet again next Thursday.

Grew Constantly Worse. Could Hardly Work Any More. Used Cuticura Remedies, and in Six Weeks She Was Cured.

"It is just a year ago that my sister came over here to us. She had been here only a few weeks when her eyes began to be red, and to burn and sting as if she had sand in them. Then we used all of the home remedies, but she grew constantly worse. She washed her eyes with salt water, used hot tea to bathe them with, and bandaged them over night with tea leaves, but all to no purpose. She went to the drug store and got some salve, but she grew constantly worse. She was scarcely able to look in the light. At last she decided to go to a doctor, because she could hardly work any more. The doctor said it was a very severe disease, and she might lose her eyesight. He made her eyes burn and stung her with electricity to them, and gave her various ointments. In the two and a half or three months that she went to the doctor, we could see very little improvement.

Then we had read so much how people had been helped by Cuticura that we thought we would try it, and we cannot be thankful enough that we used it. My sister used the Cuticura Pills, bathed only with Cuticura Soap, and at night after washing, she anointed her eyes very gently on the outside with the Cuticura Ointment. In one week, the swelling was entirely gone from the eyes, and after a month, there was no longer any burning or watering of the eyes. She could already see better, and in six weeks she was cured."—Miss Mary J. Hurd, 2008 Utah St., St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 26, 1910.

Many affections of the eyes are accompanied by sympathetic, Cuticura Remedies used judiciously seldom fail to prove beneficial in such cases. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 139 Columbus Ave., Boston. We mailed free a box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, with 32-p. book on skin treatment.

THE C. M. A. C. HALL, Where the Festival is Being Held.

22nd Anniversary of Organization of C.M.A.C. Observed

The 22nd anniversary of the organization of L'Association Catholique was observed in a fitting manner last night in the club rooms in Pawtucket street, by a festival which was also an annual event. The handsome building was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the event was one of the most successful in the history of the society.

The entire building was thrown open at 8 o'clock and a large throng of friends of the young men soon filled the upper hall which had been artistically decorated with the national colors. The American and French flags in the background of the stage as well as along the walls and the red and white streamers from the center of the hall, and the lights shaded with red gave a very pretty effect.

The hall was lined with booths of different denominations. First as one entered he encountered, to his right, the refreshment table which was richly decorated, the colors being white.

NAVIER DELISLE, President C. M. A. C.

Miss Armand Lavoie, president; Miss Lea Achin, president; Miss Corinne Bourke, vice president.

Regina Barry, A. Alexander, Corinne Alexander, Victoria Lapointe, Delia Jireen, Bertha, Anna Bourassa, Bertha Slead, Albina Lacombe, G. Desrosiers, Anna Legere, Rose Comtois, Delia Suprenant.

Then came the candy table, the dominating colors there being white and purple. All grades of delectable bonbons were on sale on this particular table, and business was rushing too. Those in charge were:

Jennie Payette, Eva Bissonnette, A. Ducharme, Antoinette Dupuis, Alice Gratton, Clara Caron, Blanche Vanasse, Eva Caron, Alice Lizotte, Eva Lequin, Marie Dupuis, Alice Jodoin, Donald Dupuis, Regina Caron, Rose Ducharme, Victoria Leclerc.

In the center of the floor was the most attractive spot; this was the flower table. It consisted of a huge basket prettily decorated with yellow and contained an elaborate line of select flowers. This table was in the care of the following who made a good night of it:

Urgot Favreau, president; Miss Gertrude St. Onge, president; Henri Simard, vice president; Miss Blanche Smith, vice president.

Noela Fortier, Blanche Daigle, Irene Gaudin, Blanche Simard, Anna Paquin, Emma Lucier, Grace Lucier, Blanche Germain, Sylvia Janelle, Flora Dubaut.

The whole ensemble presented a gay scene and to add to the festivities an elaborate entertainment program was rendered. First came a pretty little playlet entitled "On Demande Un Acteur," the parts being sustained by Masters Albert Gosselin and Henry Dubois, two well known young amateurs, who sustained their parts very well. The play created a lot of laughter and was well received by the large audience.

Then there was a minstrel presented by the famous Jolly club. George Carpenter as an interlocutor, master of the club, Frank Lecourt, Romeo St. George, Albert Houchoir, Fred Paquette, Fred Bruneau, Eddie Drouin, proved to be first class and men. Songs and dances were well rendered and a large number of members of the association received their share of the knocking, especially one of them who recently at a box party purchased one of the previous boxes.

which happened to be the property of a sweet little girl, and for which he paid — dollars.

Mr. Frank Lambert, musical director of the club, presided at the piano. It is the orchestra was in attendance during the evening.

Last night was known as the military night, any member of the state militia as well as of any local guard, being welcomed without admission fees. A large number of them turned out, and the pretty uniforms added to the effect of the decorations. Many of the priests of St. Joseph's and Notre Dame de Lourdes parishes were present.

The committee in charge deserves special mention, for the affair was one of the most successful ever conducted by the association. The affair will be repeated tonight.

The committees are as follows:

Organization committee: Xavier A. Delisle, president; Adolphe Brassard, vice-president; Wilfrid Achin, secretary; Jos. L. Of Late Mrs. Donovan of Bridgeport Wanted

A communication has been received in this city announcing the death of Mrs. Anne Sullivan Donovan at Bridgeport, Conn., on May 2. It is stated that her mother, Mrs. Margaret M. and her son, John, reside in Lowell. It is understood that the relatives will find it to their advantage to get into communication with the Bridgeport parties at once. The address may be found at this office.

All up to Associate.

DEATHS

ROGERS—John Z. Rogers, son of the late Zadock Rogers of this city, died May 6 in New York city, where he had engaged in newspaper work for several years. He was 48 years old and a graduate of Brown university. He left Lowell many years ago and had engaged in various business ventures before going into journalism.

Saved Child From Death

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson, Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctors' medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, lagrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial, bottle free. Guaranteed by A. W. Dows & Co.

Be sure to buy the Boston
Sunday Globe tomorrow.

The late Zadock Rogers was a brother of the Misses Rogers, who established Rogers Hall school and gave Fort Hill park to the city. He is survived by a wife and three sons. Mrs. Rogers was formerly Miss Hattie Morey of this city, a daughter of the late William Morey. The cause of death was tuberculosis.

CLAIRMONT—Mr. Maxine Clairmont died yesterday at his home, 187 Perkins street, at the age of 64 years. Besides his wife, he is survived by four daughters, Priscilla, Elizabeth, Marie Louise and Anna; one son, Romulus, and two brothers, Narcisse of Lowell and Louis of Canada; one sister, Mrs. Alexis Ayotte of Flatburg, N. Y.

CONDON—Mrs. Mary Mahoney Condon died yesterday at 12 Rogers street. She leaves her husband, Daniel, and two children, Jeremiah P. and Mary M., also her father in Ireland.

MURRAY—Mrs. Mary Murray, wife of Thomas H. Murray, and a devout member of St. Patrick's church, died yesterday at her home, No. 151 Cushing street, aged 47 years. Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, John and Thomas Murray, and three brothers, John, Patrick and William Mitchell.

FUNERALS

HANCOCK—The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Soper Hancock took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from the residence of her niece, Mrs. George R. Chandler, 58 Third street. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles T. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church. Burial will take place today at Coventry, Vt. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

KELLEY—The funeral of Mrs. Georgiana A. Kelley took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her sister in North Chelmsford. Services were conducted by Rev. C. H. Moe. The bearers were: W. A. Josselyn, J. Dunn, H. D. Gage and C. H. Whitmore. Burial was in the family lot in North Chelmsford. Undertaker C. M. Young in charge.

PATTERSON—The funeral of Mrs. Olivia S. Patterson took place yesterday

Rochambeau Council, Royal Arcanum, and Its Officers

Rochambeau council, Royal Arcanum, the youngest local council of this large order, although not the least important was instituted in 1903 by Grand Regent Albert W. David. This branch of the Arcanum is somewhat handicapped in the recruiting work for it is composed solely of French speaking people, but nevertheless the members are doing very good work and the council is in good standing.

At the first meeting the following 35 charter members were initiated: Joseph A. Legare, Louis E. Richards, Jean J. Cole, David A. Parthenais, Horace Desilets, Edouard S. Richard, Thomas J. Goyette, George E. Mongeau, Marie Louise J. Cassette, Dr. George E. Calise, Ernest A. Bernard, Joseph A. Gagnon, Ed. Boulanger, Victor C. Salois, L. P. Polier, Z. A. Normandin, J. H. Miller, Homer L. P. Turcotte, J. C. Manseau, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux, Teléphore Bourque, Louis Gagnon, F. A. X. G. Leblanc, Albert J. Provost, R. J. Vignault, Arthur Roberge, Henri Barry, Dr. G. E. Constantineau, Joseph Harry.

On the same night the following board of officers was elected: Thomas J. Goyette, regent; M. J. Cassette, vice regent; H. L. P. Turcotte, orator; Joseph A. Legare, past regent; L. A. Richard, secretary; D. A. Parthenais, collector; G. E. Mongeau, treasurer; V. C. Salois, chaplain; H. Desilets, guide; Ed. H. Boulanger, warden; Ed. S. Richard, sentry; Dr. G. E. Calise, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux and Dr. G. E. Constantineau, trustees.

The council has always taken an active part in all the Arcanum movements, and its members are always endeavoring to do their share of the work. Its membership is increasing every day and initiation classes are being held most every month. Another is being planned for July, at which time it is expected some 15 new members will be enrolled.

The past regents of the council are: Joseph A. Legare, elected at organization; T. J. Goyette, M. J. Cassette, H. L. P. Turcotte, Ed. H. Boulanger, Alberic W. Branchaud, Alderic L. Tellier and Rudolphe Vignault.

The present officers are: Gustave Fortier, regent; Alfred Ducharme, vice regent; Lorenzo Guin, orator; Alberic Branchaud, secretary; D. A. Parthenais, collector; M. J. Cassette, treasurer; Joseph Morin, chaplain; Alderic L. Tellier, guide; Alcide Plourde, warden; Albert Desrosiers, sentry; Dr. G. E. Calise, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux and Dr. G. E. Constantineau, trustees.

Regent Fortier is an efficient officer and under his regency the council has made great progress, for many members were initiated and a substantial sum of money was realized through entertainments.

The present collector as well as the board of trustees have been in office since the organization of the council, while Secretary Branchaud has been serving as such for five years.

The council meets every second and fourth Wednesday of the month in C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street.

FUNERAL NOTICES

MURRAY—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Murray will take place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her home, 151 Cushing street. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. Services at the grave. J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

BARRETT—The funeral of the late Mrs. Nancy Barrett will take place Monday morning at 8 o'clock from her home, 159 Salem street. Funeral high mass of requiem will be sung in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Today concludes the successful season of the Donald Meek stock company with Severin DeDeyn at the Hathaway theatre and the many patrons of the theatre will regret their departure. The final performances of "The Bachelor's Honeymoon," which has been drawing large houses all week, will be given today and those who have not witnessed a performance should avail themselves of this closing opportunity. With the exception of Mr. Meek most of the members of the company will leave Lowell for other scenes the first of the week. Mr. Meek will remain in Lowell for a few days. Mr. DeDeyn goes to New York and from the metropolis he will proceed to Scranton, Pa. where he will run a summer stock company of his own. Miss Lillian Neiderauer goes to her home in Dorchester to enjoy her first vacation in the east in several years. Mr. Colrine will spend a few days at his home in Lawrence and will then go with a summer stock company. Messrs. Marion, Harrington and Keller have summer engagements. Donald Meek will return to the Castle Square for the remainder of this month and the month of June and will open with the John Craig stock company on May 22 in the role of "John Jones" in Joseph Jefferson's great success, "The Rivals." Mr. Meek will spend the months of July and August in the country, taking a well earned rest and he will return to Lowell in September. Mr. Meek is

The Operatic recital given by J. Edward Pierce and Miss Marie Roslyn at the Merrimack Square theatre last evening proved a big drawing card despite the uncomfortable weather conditions. The efforts of the singers were fully appreciated, goes without saying. Their program with a select one and highly entertaining throughout. Mr. Pierce's fine baritone voice was used to advantage in several of the numbers and Miss Roslyn, soprano of merit, also shared in the honors of the evening. It truly was a musical treat.

For next week Rose Pitonoff, the wonderful little Russian girl whose swim to Boston Light, more than a year ago, brought here before the public eye, will be seen in the feature offering. Miss Pitonoff will give a demonstration of diving and swimming entirely new and novel to theatregoers. This same act has been given at Keth's theatre in Boston and many of the other big vaudeville houses of the country at prices ranging from 25 cents to $1. Lowell playgoers will be given an opportunity to see the very same thing at the popular prices which prevail here.

Other acts on the bill include Sheldon and Wilson, presenting a comedy sketch, "The Bootblack and His Girl." This act is of unusual merit and is deserving of special mention. Harry Adler, known as "That Minnie," is one of the very best in his line and sure to greatly amuse all of the patrons of this theatre. Jack Crowley will be heard in songs and there will be a new and high-class series of daylight motion pictures.

The sacred concerts, which will be given Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 7 and 9 o'clock will again compare favorably with the best of the season. The Jolly Jankins will give a fine musical act and Wallace and Osburg, comedians will entertain in their new offering. Jack Lyle is a singing and talking comedian and Roslyn and Pierce will render some new songs. There will be illustrated songs and other features.

The new system of ventilation makes this theatre one of the coolest spots in Lowell. Baseball results of all the leagues will be given nightly.

THEATRE VOYONS

The feature of the exceptionally good program arranged for tomorrow

at the Theatre Voyons is "A Klondike Story," a picture of life in the far north staged with more than ordinary care and telling a story appealing and novel at the same time. Three of the most popular Vitaphone actresses appear in this picture in decidedly new roles. There are other features arranged for of the best kind and the whole program will be one of the best ever given in Lowell on Sunday. On Monday the feature picture will be "Mother," a heart picture that cannot fail to cause a lot of favorable comment.—Adv.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A big novelty bill at this house today. The musical Rossini in an accurate musical act; Bill Barlow, extemporaneous comedian, and Spissell, LaDell and Engel, in "The Dutchman's First Visit," a funny pantomime novelty. A sacred concert will be given on Sunday. The vaudeville features for Monday include Ward Mykoff, sensational Russian dancers, Bobbin comedy trio, music, mirth and melody; Henry Lapan & Co., in a dramatic playlet, "The Rehearsal."—Adv.

BISHOP DE SILVA

Confirmed Several Hundred Children at St. Peter's Today

A large number of children, boys and girls, received the sacrament of confirmation at St. Peter's church at 3.30 this afternoon, and the event attracted a large throng of people.

The services were held at 3 o'clock and were very impressive. The officiating clergyman was Bishop de Silva and he was assisted by Rev. Frs. Mullin and Heffernan, curates of the church.

Deputy Chief James Norton of the fire department served as witness for the boys, while the girls were escorted to the altar by Miss Catherine Mullin.

The choir under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly rendered several appropriate hymns during the services, the solo being sustained by Mr. Donnelly, Miss Mary Whiteley and Miss Catherine Mullin.

Before the confirmation, Rev. Fr. Mullin delivered a powerful sermon on

MRS. DODGE GUILTY

The Jury Returned a Verdict of Manslaughter

GUILDHALL, Vt., May 13.—Hardly a trace of emotion crossed the face of Mrs. Florence Dodge of Lunenburg when in the Essex county court house here today she heard from the lips of the foreman of the jury that she had been found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of William Heath, a painter of Dalton, N. H., who was shot on Sept. 17 last while at work in Mrs. Dodge's home at Lunenburg. Neatly dressed in sombre black, Mrs. Dodge stood impassive as the verdict was returned. Then she sank back in her seat between her daughter, Mrs. Ida Bell, who has been her constant attendant during the trial, and one of her attorneys, Harry Blodgett. The imposing of sentence in the case was deferred until next Monday in order to allow Mrs. Dodge's counsel to study the exceptions noted by them during

VICIOUS FIGHT

Trouble Broke Out at West Point

NEWBURY, N. Y., May 13.—A fierce fight occurred early today among soldiers attached to the artillery and cavalry detachments at West Point, and John Kahney, an artilleryman, was thrown through the plate glass window of a store. An artery in his arm was severed and he was removed to the artillery barracks nearly dead from loss of blood. His assailants are unknown.

MAINE COLLEGES

HELD BIGGEST TRACK MEET IN YEARS

WATERVILLE, Me., May 13.—For the first time in years athletes representing the four Maine colleges held their annual track and field meet without the feeling that Bowdoin was a probable winner and realizing that the other three colleges are so evenly matched that the result of the 17th meet was very much in doubt. Bowdoin has won 13 out of 16 meets, including the last three but today was considered weak all through the list of events. The meet was expected to be the best ever held for these reasons. Bates and Maine were picked for winners and Colby had a fighting chance. Bates' team was strengthened by Harlow W. Holden, who was allowed to participate after an investigation of his athletic standing. He was counted upon for ten points. Practically all the men entered were here when the trial heats were run this forenoon.

THE BIG GAME

WINTERED SPLENDIDLY IN MAINE THIS YEAR

AUGUSTA, Me., May 13.—"So far as we have been able to observe, Maine's big game wintered splendidly," said J. W. Brackett, chairman of the commissioners of inland fisheries and game today. "I have been getting reports from all parts of the big game country during the last few weeks and all the wardens state that the animals they have seen have been as fat and plump as stable fed cattle."

TO JOIN P. M. CHURCH

LONSDALE, R. I., May 13.—The application of the Free Methodist Episcopal church (colored) of the United States to join the Primitive Methodist church was received by the eastern conference of the latter denomination here today. The conference expressed its readiness to receive the Free church just as soon as the executive committee of the general conference, which includes all the churches of the sect in the country, had shown its approval. A similar petition was recently submitted to the Pennsylvania conference which voted to postpone action on it for a year.

Rev. Elijah Humphreys of Fall River, Rev. W. B. Taylor of Lonsdale and Rev. John Mason of Greystone were elected members of the examining committee.

ROOF COLLAPSED

One Man Probably Fatally Injured in Accident at Worcester

WORCESTER, May 13.—One man was probably fatally injured and four others seriously hurt when a portion of the roof of the foundry of the L. W. Pond Machine Co. collapsed here this afternoon. Fifteen men were at work in the foundry at the time but only five were caught in the ruins. Peter Piuski was injured internally and it is believed at the city hospital that he will die. The others who were seriously injured are: Frank Kimball, John Hussey, Frank Kogoloski and Henry Gendron. A new roof was being built over the old roof and it is thought that the additional weight caused the supports to give way.

PROBABLY FATALLY BURNED

BINGHAM, Me., May 13.—In the presence of six other children who were alone at the time, Marjorie, the four-year-old daughter of Forest Cates of Moscow, was terribly burned today and is not expected to live more than four hours. The children were in charge of the eldest daughter, aged 11, who has been "keeping house" for her father since the death of her mother after a long sickness about a year ago. As near as could be learned the child was near the kitchen stove and in some way her clothing caught fire. Becoming frightened she ran out of doors, thus saving the house from damage, and in a moment all her clothing was burned off. Burns covered her entire body. None of the other children was burned. Mr. Cates is a laboring man.

DRAFT OF TREATY

Is to Be Sent to London

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The first draft of the proposed arbitration treaty between America and Great Britain is practically complete. The state department officials after many weeks of work have succeeded in crystallizing the main ideas of the projectors of the pact.

The principal difficulty encountered was in the consideration of matters excepted from the scheme for general arbitration, but it was found that the desired object could be attained satisfactorily by the exchange of notes between the two governments, explanatory of the plan and scope of the treaty, leaving the convention itself very simple in outline. This was regarded as desirable in view of the fact that the treaty may serve as a model for similar conventions with other powers. Ambassador Bryce will transmit a draft of the treaty to the foreign office in London for consideration. If the party council acts promptly the senate may have an opportunity to approve the treaty during the present session of congress.

MORTALITY OF LOWELL

For the week ending May 13, 1911: Population, 108,291; total deaths, 29; deaths under five, 5; infectious diseases, 2; acute lung diseases, 3; diphtheria, 1; cerebro spinal meningitis, 1. Death rate—14.19 against 21.03 and 16.63 for previous two weeks. Infectious diseases reported—Scarlet fever, 3; diphtheria, 3; measles, 5; cerebro spinal meningitis, 1. Board of Health.

SEVERE STORM

Man Killed by Bolt of Lightning

ADAMS, May 13.—Hurled for a distance of 10 feet from his seat on a plow in a Cheshire field yesterday by a bolt of lightning, Warren Hall, aged 35 years, was instantly killed. Hall was at work on the Quinsy farm, owned by W. E. Pennington of North Adams, when a severe electrical storm burst upon him.

Before the rain fell there were several sharp claps of thunder and then directly over the Ormsby farm a bolt struck near the plow on which Hall was seated. He was hurled 10 feet away by the shock. Another farmhand standing 20 feet away was knocked down and stunned; one of the horses attached to the plow was killed and the other hurt from its fall, but not injured. Physicians who examined Hall later say that he bore all the symptoms of a man who had met death by drowning. The victim leaves a wife and one child.

To Compel City to appropriate $5000 to Fight Moths

Unless the city council votes an appropriation of $5000 for moth extermination in Lowell, by next Wednesday morning, State Forester Rane will proceed to compel the city to pay that amount. Notice of such action is contained in the following letter received by Mayor Meehan this forenoon:

Office of State Forester,
May 12, 1911.
Hon. John P. Meehan, Mayor,
Lowell, Mass.

Upon receiving notice that your city council has refused to vote the necessary money for carrying on the moth work in your city, I took up the matter with Governor Foss and explained the conditions. The governor asked me to take up the matter again with your city council through Your Honor, and say that we very much deplore being compelled to exercise the power given us through Chapter 381, Acts of 1905, as amended by Chapter 286, Acts of 1906, but feel we shall be compelled to do so unless we have a favorable report that the money to the extent of $5000 is forthcoming by next Wednesday morning. Trust that I may have a favorable report from you, believe me,

Very sincerely yours,
F. W. Rane, State Forester.

CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL COMMISSION

At a meeting of the contagious hospital commission held this forenoon in the mayor's reception room at city hall an agreement, drawn up by the city solicitor and having to do with plans presented by Architect Henry L. Rourke, was signed by three members of the commission, Drs. Martin, McCarty and Lamoureux. Mayor Meehan and Mr. Robinson, the other two members of the commission, were not present but will affix their signatures later. The agreement was also signed by Mr. Rourke, who, if he gets the contract to build the contagious hospital, will receive for plans, specifications, details, contracts and superintendence, five per cent. of the cost of the building. It is agreed that if the plans already submitted by Mr. Rourke are not accepted that he will not receive anything for them, though the plans represent a great deal of labor and a great deal of expense. The agreement is more or less conditional and is open to at least one insertion suggested by Mr. Rourke.

TO COMMAND FLEET

TOKIO, May 13.—Rear Admiral Joseph Murdock arrived here today and will assume command of the American Asiatic fleet, succeeding Rear Admiral Hubbard. Unusual courtesies will be extended by the government on the occasion of the exchange of command while the American battleships are at Yokohama next week. There will be a series of garden parties and dinners for visiting officers.

The special attention to be shown the visitors is intended, it is thought, as further evidence of Japan's appreciation of the recently concluded American Japanese commercial treaty.

BUILDING MATTERS

What the Contractors and Builders Are Doing

The building movement has taken its regular course it seems, after a lull of a couple of weeks. A number of permits were given out this week from the superintendent of buildings' office, and the contractors as well as the architects are kept on the jump.

Mr. John H. Beaulieu, who has purchased the old Merrimack corporation in Prince and Thelen streets, formerly owned by Mr. Sirk, is making preparations for extensive changes in the buildings which comprise some twenty-eight tenements. The inside of the tenements will be remodeled and painted and baths will be installed.

Extensive Repairs

The old Massachusetts corporation in Stackpole street is also undergoing considerable repairs. The 22 tenements from number 22 to 45 have been vacated lately and the work of remodeling was immediately begun. It is expected that everything will be completed in about 10 days, and at that time the edifice will be as good as new, and a better class of tenants will occupy it.

Capt. Brosnan is making an addition to his residence in High street. The cellar is now ready and the house will be converted into a two apartment dwelling.

Mr. Thomas Wardell, photographer dealer in Central street, has moved into his splendid new residence in Tyler park.

Mr. Telesphore Faubert of Beaulieu street has purchased a three-apartment house at 136 Cumberland road, formerly owned by Mr. M. Quados. The house is a three-story building with a flat roof, and is situated in a fine

REAL MANUAL TRAINING AT THE BARLETT SCHOOL

The above picture shows a class of Bartlett school boys of the 6th grade at work in their manual training class. This work is directly in line with the most modern ideas of the best educators, of what manual training in the grades should be. At the Bartlett school an attempt is being made to do the work as nearly under the actual conditions of the work shops as is possible. That the work shop side of the affair, rather than the school side be emphasized, both as to the appearance of the class in its work and the results attained. Added to this an attempt is made to make the work of such a character as the child comes in contact with in his every day life—something of vital interest to him—something that he naturally connects with his existence at times when his school may be far from his thought. To attain these ends boys are asked to bring from their own homes some piece of furniture that needs mending—as for instance a chair that needs reupholstering. This work is done in the school under as much direction as is necessary from the manual training teacher. In this way there is no trouble whatever in getting the interest and even enthusiasm of the boys. The work is of some practical value. The hand training is especially valuable to children of this age. The time taken from mental studies is small—interest and enthusiasm leading the boys to do much of the work outside of school hours and the beneficial reaction upon mental work more than making up for actual time taken. Plans are in preparation for pressing such work further at the Bartlett school next year.

MAN AND WIFE PLEAD GUILTY

ALFRED, Me., May 13.—Fred B. Snow, indicted on eight counts for breaking, entering and larceny and two others charging that he obstructed an officer and committed an assault with intent to kill upon an officer when being arrested, and his wife, who was indicted for obstructing an officer, retracted their pleas of not guilty and pleaded guilty in the superior court today. Their cases were continued until September. Mrs. Snow, who was ill, was allowed to go, while Snow was ordered to return to jail to await sentence.

THE KENTUCKY DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—The Kentucky derby, one of the greatest turf classics of America, will be run this afternoon before probably the largest crowd that ever witnessed the race and under circumstances most favorable. The weather is clear and the track is in fine condition. Probably greater horses have faced the starter in the Kentucky derby than will start this afternoon but not for years has so evenly matched a field been entered.

BILL LANG WON

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 13.—Bill Lang, the Australian heavyweight, was given the decision over Jack Lester of Cleburn, Wash., today when the latter was disqualified in the sixth round for knocking Lester a slight lead when he dropped to his knees. He had not been hit at the moment and explained that he had twisted his arm. Fifteen thousand persons saw the fight. Lang weighed in at 192 pounds and the American at 179.

"BILL" KELIHER'S APPEAL

BOSTON, May 13.—The appeal of W. J. Keliher from an 18-year state prison sentence for complicity in the looting of the National City bank of Cambridge will not be passed upon by the federal courts until next fall. A rehearing on the appeal will be held in October. On account of the illness of Judge Putnam it was found necessary to postpone the case. The appeal was heard last winter but before a decision was announced one of the justices, Judge Lowell, died, necessitating another hearing. Keliher is in the East Cambridge jail, the government demanding a $50,000 bail bond which he has not succeeded in furnishing.

MOROCCAN SITUATION CRITICAL

PARIS, May 13.—Jean Cruppi, minister of foreign affairs, laid before the cabinet council today despatches from Henri Gaillard, the French consul at Fez, which under date of May 6 described the situation at the Moroccan capital as more nearly critical than before.

Ten thousand rebels attacked the city on May 4 but were repulsed. Agents of the rebellious tribesmen are in Fez trying to undermine the loyalty of the sultan's troops. The sultan has insisted strongly and in writing upon the immediate assistance of France. The reports of French military intervention spread among the natives in Fez are proving a grave menace to foreign interests. After hearing these advices the cabinet gave instructions to General Moinier, commanding the French troops at Casablanca, to push forward a column without delay, to raise the siege of Fez.

While the cabinet was in session despatches were received by the minister of war enclosing a message from Col. Maugin, chief of the French military mission at Fez, who pictured the position of the besieged city as perilous in the extreme.

INTERNATIONAL COTTON CONGRESS

BARCELONA, Spain, May 13.—The international cotton congress today decided that the members of all associations affiliated with the general body should buy at least a part of their cotton on the basis of net weight and so oblige the American planter to adopt a new system of baling and preparing cotton. It was determined to appoint a special committee to study the form for a universal contract, equitable for the seller and the buyer.

The congress recommended the development of cotton culture in the East Indies. Resolutions were adopted urging the associations and manufacturers represented to agree to reduce production owing to the situation of the industry.

The international committee was instructed to consider the insertion in the universal uniform contract proposed of a clause providing for the sale of samples of fibres before the contract is accepted. Another condition recommended was to fix the percentages of humidity. The committee is to study the laws of natural absorption of the different fibres and qualities of cotton. It was voted to hold the next congress at The Hague.

THIEVES ESCAPED DETECTIVES

NEWARK, N. J., May 13.—Although private detectives and watchmen were on guard outside and inside, thieves got in to the house of John F. Dryden today and escaped with their plunder uncaught. No estimate of the loss will be available until an inventory has been taken. Mr. Dryden, who is president of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., is one of the richest men in New Jersey.

HARVARD-YALE

Big Track Meet is on Today

NEW HAVEN, May 13.—Individual work is expected to be a factor in the winning of the annual track and field meet between Yale and Harvard on Yale field this afternoon, so close are the forecasts by the knowing ones on each side. Harvard's strength is placed in the longer dashes and the distance runs and the hammer throw, while Yale is confident of winning the largest number of points in the sprints, jumps, pole vault and shotput. A reversal of form as figured out on paper is likely to upset the calculations but at the best Yale and Harvard men agree that the winning margin will be a small one. The Harvard squad came over from New London this forenoon and went out to Yale field for a little practice to get the lay of the track and the condition of the turf.

RECIPROCITY BILL

HEARING WILL BE EXTENDED A FEW DAYS.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—All hope of the senate finance committee concluding this week its hearings on the Canadian reciprocity bill was abandoned today. So prolonged have been the arguments of the objecting farmers' representatives that Chairman Fearce was planning when the session of the committee began today to extend the hearings a few days.

IDEAL WEATHER

For the Yale-Penn. Boat Race

SPRINGFIELD, May 13.—To see the twentieth century athletic representatives of Eli Yale and William Penn in a test of strength and aquatic skill, there visited this city today several hundred close followers of college rowing for the variety race between Yale and Pennsylvania. Only college loyalty and devotion to the sport drew these undergraduates here for the afternoon race for there were many other attractions on campus and college field to keep them at their home university. The forenoon conditions for the race indicated ideal weather and water for the afternoon event, which will be started at five o'clock.

The race officials met here in the forenoon, among them being Referee Robert Herrick, an old Harvard oarsman but now a steady Penn lawyer.

Both crews had short spins in the forenoon but it was merely to keep muscle limber. Pennsylvania, because of her veteran crew, was a first favorite over the green crew from New Haven in what little betting was done.

CRESSON'S PLAN

FOR THE EDUCATION OF SOUTH AMERICANS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—To educate South American youth in the arts and spirit of American diplomacy, William Cresson, charge d'affaires of the United States legation at Lima, Peru, advocates in a despatch to the state department the issuance of a South American supplement by some metropolitan newspaper in this country. He bases his views on the fact that a similar supplement published some time ago by an English paper met with great success in Peru and that the South American governments generally furthered its distribution. The Peruvian government under an agreement extending till 1913, he adds, subscribes to 4000 copies of an English monthly published in Peru by an American journalist.

IDENTIFICATION OF THE CHIP-PEWA INDIANS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Sixty-six Indian fingerprints that had been dipped in red poke-berry juice startled Speaker Champ Clark yesterday when he opened his mail. There were identification marks of 66 Chippewa Indians of the White Earth reservation who had protested proposed legislation affecting Indian lands. The finger prints attested the long list of Indian names, signed by an agent.

LADY DECIES RECOVERING

LONDON, May 13.—Lady Decies, who underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday, was reported today as making a satisfactory recovery. There will be a high mass of requiem at St. Peter's church, Monday morning, at 5 o'clock, for the repose of the soul of Harry Downs.

LATEST MADERO ARRESTED

Trouble in the Ranks of the Mexican Insurrectos

JUAREZ, May 13.—Rebellion within the ranks of the Madero army this morning resulted in the declaring under arrest of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., provisional president, the demand and the acceptance of the demand that Madero's cabinet resign, and for two hours threatened the destruction of the Juarez army as a concrete fighting force.

The insubordinate rebellion arose in the ranks of General Orozco one of the fighting leaders of the Madero army and was headed by Orozco himself. A demand was made upon Provisional President Madero for food and money for his ragged and hungry soldiers.
Madero was unable to satisfy these demands at the time but his explanations were summarily thrown aside by the belligerent leader Orozco and his soldiers and Madero was declared under arrest.

Approximately definite figures of the casualties of the three days' fighting in Juarez this week have been reached by a careful checking of the burials and of the hospitals both here and in El Paso by Provisional Governor Gonzales. This includes not only the insurrectos and federals but the volunteers who fought with the federals in Juarez and a number of citizens shot in the streets or in their own homes during the battle. The insurrecto loss is reported at 15 killed and about 50 wounded. The federal loss is given at 100 killed and 137 wounded.

WILLIAMS IS WORLD'S CHAMPION

LONDON, May 13.—Charles Williams, the Harrow school professional, captured the world's racquet championship and a side bet of $2000 today when he won the first set in the second half of his match with Jamsetji of Bombay. The score was 15 to 7. The first half of the match was played at the Queen's club on April 29, when Williams walked off with four straight games.

GUPPY HAD NARROW ESCAPE

SOUTH FREEPORT, Me., May 13.—The near tropical storm which struck western Maine last night was responsible for the loss of a motor boat load of furniture belonging to C. W. Newhall, a Boston traveling salesman, and the narrow escape from death of the owner, George Guppy, who was forced to swim nearly a mile while lightning flashes lighted his way.
Mr. and Mrs. Newhall took another launch earlier and thus reached their summer home on Bostings island before the storm broke. Guppy was half way between Bostings island and Wolf's neck when his heavily laden 30-footer was overturned by the gale and he was forced to strike out for shore, swimming to Bostings island. The furniture was lost but the boat drifted ashore today in a damaged condition.

Several large elm trees in Freeport were blown down and other damage of a minor nature was done.

MEANS LOSS OF $2,000,000

NORFOLK, Va., May 13.—The sinking of the Ward line steamer
Merida early yesterday by the steamer Admiral Farragut off the Virginia Capes will cause a loss of approximately $2,000,000, according to an estimate made by H. B. Cabaud, general agent of the owning company, who arrived here today from New York city. Mr. Cabaud said that the Merida, valued at about $1,500,000, was insured and that the cargo and effects of passengers, valued at probably $750,000, were presumably insured.

Passengers and officers of the lost Merida to the number of 141 persons left here today by rail for New York. Only eleven of the passengers remained here. Ten of these constituted the party of August Peon, a wealthy land proprietor of Yucatan, Mexico, whose wife was the only person on the Merida who was seriously injured. Mrs. Peon, at first thought to be fatally hurt, was pronounced today not to be in as serious a condition as originally reported.

WAS HEAVY AND DULL AT THE CLOSE TODAY

Business Was Featureless in the Final Hour—The More Active Stocks Continued Under Pressure—Other Features of the Day's Trading

NEW YORK, May 13.—The dropping tendency was apparent in the early trading on the stock market today although changes were small. The heaviest loser was Sloss Sheffield Steel, which receded 1/4. Union Pacific fell back 1/4 and Western Maryland advanced the same amount.

Trading diminished steadily until there was scarcely a semblance of life to the market. Fluctuations were in keeping with the sluggishness of the list, none of the speculative favorites varying more than a small fraction.

The tendency was upward, with United States Steel and St. Paul rising to above yesterday's closing.
The market closed heavy and dull.
Business was quite featureless in the final hour, the only noteworthy exception being Philadelphia company, which gained 1/4 and Minneapolis, St.
Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, which was up 1/4. The more active issues such as U. P. and Reading continued under pressure.

THE GILBRIDE CO.

Holds Its Great Anniversary Sale

The third anniversary sale at our department store was the event of the season. Our previous anniversary sales have always fully come up to our expectations, but this one seems to have far exceeded our most sanguine expectations, having had the benefit of two previous anniversary sales and thereby convinced the trading public of this city and vicinity. The large page adv. in Wednesday's issue of The Sun, must have been very closely read by the shrewd and saving people, and after reading wonderful prices affixed to the various items they realized that there was no better way to make money than by saving money on all purchases. They certainly responded nobly to the call, as from the moment the doors were opened, it looked like a busy hive of industry, and our clerks were a tired lot when the day's business came to a close.

Thousands of people profited by their purchases, and it has been clearly demonstrated at this sale that all that is necessary to make business lively is to make goods and prices right, and at the Gilbride Company's store they certainly did this, and their customers are well aware that when they call at the store they will be able to get what is advertised and in abundant supply.
The prizing knife has been used on every article, and the people readily and cheerfully left the store with a supply of merchandise that will last them for many months. These goods are all of the best quality.

There are no shop-worn goods, for the Gilbride Company does not allow its merchandise to lie around long enough to get shop worn. The sale will continue for a few more days.
If you have not attended the sale, do so today, for it certainly is a mecca for bargains.

Mr. John J. Burns, the manager, is certainly on to his job, and he knows how to bring out a crowd. He is the

Think Massacre Is Set for Tomorrow

MOSCOW, May 13.—Today's papers report that an agitation for a massacre of Jews is perceptible at Kiev, where many Jews, alarmed, are pawn-ing their property in preparation for flight. The papers state that the massacre appears to have been set for tomorrow and that the agitation followed a rumor alleging the ritualistic killing of a boy last March.

IN THE COMMERCIAL HISTORY OF PROVIDENCE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 13.—A new era in the commercial history of Providence was begun today when the Fabre line steamer Madonna steamed up the harbor inaugurating a direct trans-Atlantic service between this port and the Mediterranean. The Madonna is the largest steamship that ever entered this port. Every craft which boasted of a whistle joined in one harmonious outburst of welcome as the big vessel with Captain W. Talbot Dodge, her Black Island pilot at the wheel, came up Narragansett bay to her dock at Fox Point. Immediately upon her arrival the steamer was opened to the inspection of the public and later a reception and luncheon, at which Gov. Polier, Mayor Fletcher and other men of the city and state were the guests, was held on board. The Madonna planned to sail into this afternoon for the Azores, Lisbon and Marseilles.

THE INFORMER

Says That He Was in Fear of the Camorristi

VITERBO, Italy, May 13.—The crown prosecutor today asked that Genaro Abbatemaggio be indicted as an accomplice in the murder of Genaro Cnoccolo and his wife. The request was founded on admissions made by Abbatemaggio during the session of the camorrist trial when he was again confronted by Enrico Alfano, charged with being the actual head of the camorrist society. President Bianchi declined to make such an order. Today's exchange between Abbatemaggio and Alfano had to do chiefly with the actual murder of the Cnoccolos.
The informer repeated the circumstances, already known. Alfano replied that he could only imagine that his accuser had had bad dreams.
When Abbatemaggio said that he had with others been equally selected as one of the assassins but withdrew from participation in the crime because of his horror of the taking of human life, a lawyer for the defense asked:
"Then why, if you were so horrified,
did you not warn Cnoccolo of the plot against him by means of an anonymous letter?"
"Because," answered the witness,
"the camorra would have suspected and punished me."
"Why was your share of the reward for the crime $30 while the actual murderers received only $20 each?"
"Because either the camorristi feared me, or thought me useful."
It was this last statement of the in-former that led the crown prosecutor to ask for his indictment.

THE BACHELORS SUPT. WHITCOMB

Scored Another Big Hit
In Wakefield

The Twentieth Century Bachelor club minstrels scored another great success in Wakefield last night when under the auspices of the famous Sherwood club of that town they presented their grand minstrel overture before an audience that taxed the seating capacity of the town hall. People were present from all the surrounding towns and enjoyed to the fullest extent the various numbers on the program. The stage setting was very elaborate, the beautiful garden scene calling forth loud applause from the audience. The setting was arranged by Frank McCart-lin, stage manager of the company. Every selection was encores and the chorus singing has never been equalled by this clever aggregation of singers and comedians. There were thirty voices under the direction of Charles D. Slattery with Prof. Richard Noonan, presiding at the piano. The Wakefield people pronounced it one of the best attractions that has been in the town and the local hits were greatly enjoyed. The "boys" never showed the vim in their work that they did last night and it is safe to say that should the place be repeated here in Lowell with the same activity and ease as marked last night's performance the largest hall in this city would be crowded to the doors.

The program was as follows:
Opening Chorus Entire company
"With All Her Faults I Love Her Still" Wm. Devlin
"Put On Your Girdle"
George Babo Rogers
"Roses" Jas. E. Donnelly
"Hot Dog Man" Patrick Mulvanity

GRAND CONCERT

TO BE HELD IN HATHAWAY'S
THEATRE TOMORROW NIGHT

The concert in aid of the Immaculate Conception church tomorrow night will be held in Hathaway's theatre and the first local talent will appear. The program arranged by Jas. Courtney, director of the church choir, is one of unusual excellence and should appeal to all lovers of music. Miss Mary E. Joyce will be the reader and there will be both vocal and instrumental selections.

A HUGE SPRING

Has Been Discovered In Salem

SALEM, May 13.—The water famine that has threatened this city and which has made it necessary for the streets to go unwatered, except with injurious salt water, has been relieved, and the citizens are grateful for the chance discovery of a huge spring of water beneath the piling in one of the main streets.

Although the spring, which is estimated to have a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons a day, will not add to the city's drinking water supply, it relieves the necessity of sprinkling the streets with salt water, and already work is going on on a tank or reservoir that will hold what water is not immediately needed.

When the city began to use salt water in the emergency owners of horses protested because the salt was injurious to the animals' feet.

And simultaneously another class of protests appeared—from owners of property on which trees are planted.
These claimed the salt injured or destroyed the foliage.

The discovery was made when city workmen dug beneath the present water or sewer pipes and suddenly tapped the spring.

Youth Wanted to See
It Burn

BELLMORE, L. I., May 13.—William Mohrman, a bashful, typical village boy, son of Henry Mohrman, a baker of Bellmore, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice Corcoran Norton, charged with setting fire to the Long Island railroad freight house near the bakery, early yesterday morning.

"Did you do this, Will?" the justice
asked.

"Yes, I did it," the boy replied, hanging his head. "I did it. I wanted to see a fire."

There have been a number of incendiary fires in Bellmore in the last two months, all at night, and some of them have been discovered by the older Mohrman. Young Mohrman was asked if he had started other fires, but would not answer.

Mohrman is 19 years old, a thin, narrow-shouldered, sallow-checked youth, who hasn't had much time to play with other boys since he got big enough to work. The neighbors looked upon him as a model boy. The Long Island railroad detectives believe that he is a pyromaniac.

MAN PERISHED

In a Barn Fire at Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 13.—A destructive fire occurred at Middleton corner yesterday afternoon when the large farm buildings of Henry Willey were totally destroyed, and James J.
Dow, about 50 years old, a neighbor who was employed on the farm, was burned to death. Two valuable horses, one hog and a number of hens also perished.

Mr. Dow worked at plowing in the forenoon and after dinner went to the barn, as was his custom, to take a nap. It is supposed that he slumbered on the hay now, the hay igniting from the pipe which he was smoking, causing him to lose his life.
Mr. Willey discovered the fire when the barn was enveloped in flames, which quickly spread to the house.
Little furniture was saved.
In the barn besides the live stock were five tons of hay, three carriages and farming tools, all of which were lost. The loss will be about $2000, with small insurance.
Mr. Dow had been a resident of Middleton for six years, coming here from South Scituate, N. H., and his only relative is a brother, Enoch, whom the authorities are trying to locate. Medical Referee Forrest L. Keay of this city viewed the body last night, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.
The neighbors made an effort to extinguish the flames with chemicals, but were unsuccessful.
Mr. Willey, while trying to move funiture from the house, was badly burned about the head and face.

DEATHS

WILTANK.—Mrs. Maria Wiltbank, formerly of Lowell died last night at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Clark in Ostons Mass., aged 63 years. The deceased lived in Lowell until a short time ago, when her health broke down and she went to live with Mrs. Clarke.
She was a devout attendant of St.
Albanel's church, and leaves a host of friends who will mourn her loss.

MELLEN.—Died in Chelmsford, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. B.
Adams, Mrs. Cynthia Mellen, aged 75 years. Besides Mrs. Adams she leaves another daughter, Mrs. Samuel Mussey of Newton. Mrs. Mellen was the widow of the late James Mellen, and before his death they had always lived in Lowell. The funeral will take place Monday at 2 p. m. from the home of her daughter in Chelmsford.

FUNERALS

ESPINOZA.—The funeral of Olevia
Espinoza, child of Manuel and Rosa Espinoza, took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home of her parents, 7 Proctor's avenue, and was largely attended. Services were conducted at St. Anthony's church at 3 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Rosa. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemtery, in charge of Undertaker Thomas J. McDermott.

GOLDEN JUBILEE

Charles I. Hood Honored by His Employees

CHARLES I. HOOD.

Fifty Years Ago Today He Apprenticed Himself in the Drug Business in Lowell—Beautiful Tribute Paid to Beloved Employer by Appreciative Employees

The huge American flag waving majestically from the flag pole on the great plant of C. I. Hood and Co., in Thordike street this morning, together with a rush of gaily attired and smiling faced employees to the laboratory at an early hour indicated to the observer that something unusual was about to happen within the walls of the mammoth establishment.

And even so was the fact for 50 years ago today a green-horn country boy from Chelsea, Vt. timidly entered a drug store in Lowell to begin a five year apprenticeship for "dollars" a week with nothing stronger to help him out than his health and a determination to make good. Today, half a century afterward, that green-horn boy stood in a flower-laden bower within the big building referred to and received the congratulations of his employees, past and present, and a few personal friends, a green-horn no longer but one of America's most widely advertised and most successful business men, Charles I. Hood, of Sarsaparilla fame.

Go into most any remote school in the land and ask the pupils for what is Lowell, Mass., noted and for everyone who says the textile industry, another will say "Hood's Sarsaparilla" and yet the founder of that great business was once a poor country boy who came alone to the city to shift for himself at the age of 15 years.

Mr. Hood, a few days ago, remarked to one of his foremen that on Saturday, the 13th, he would be 50 years "a working-man," having started in as an apprentice on that day. The word was passed to the employees and it was the quick and unanimous decision that the day should be commemorated and a pleasant surprise sprung upon Mr. Hood. A committee, was appointed with George H. Taylor, manager of the plant, as chairman, and elaborate plans were secretly formulated and carried out.

In order to keep the matter a complete surprise and get things in readiness it was necessary to invoke the aid of Boston business friends who called Mr. Hood to Boston yesterday and found business enough to keep him there until last evening so that he could not go near the plant. Then the decorations were brought in and the main office, entrances and Mr. Hood's private office transformed into bowers. The main entrance was draped in the national colors and the stairway leading to the main office was framed in the national colors. Mr. Hood's private office was exquisitely adorned. Over his desk was the inscription in incandescent bulbs "1861-1911." Then the walls were hidden behind graceful vines and streamers of laurel and fern while on the sills and on tables and even on the floors were huge bouquets of flowers. Among the latter were: bouquet of fifty American beauty roses, from the employees; fifty roses, from Mr. J. P. Knapp and Mr. W. A. Warner, sales manager of the American Lithographic Co., New York; fifty roses, from Frederick Cameron Church, of Lowell; large spray of pink snapdragons, from the Stover & Bean Co., Lowell; roses, from W. P. Wilder, and family.

Presented Loving Cup

As Mr. Hood entered the laboratory this morning he was met at the entrance by his employees and escorted amid cheers to his private office where

GEORGE H. TAYLOR, Manager for Mr. Hood.

Lowell. Under it was a letter from the employees of the establishment which reads as follows:

Letter From Employees

The following is the testimonial letter read to Mr. Hood, from the employees:

Lowell, May 13, 1911.

Mr. C. I. Hood, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Mr. Hood: We simply could not allow the 50th anniversary of your beginning work in Lowell to pass without recognition. And so, when it became apparent that your own distaste for personal prominence would not permit the carrying out of a celebration as at one time suggested, we, your employees, decided to take the initiative and request you to be our guest for a short time on this 13th day of May, 1911.

Our congratulations are unanimous.

our good wishes are sincere. To have lived in the same city for the long period of 50 years is worthy of notice, to have been engaged in business in one place for a half a century is an unusual record; to have followed the same business in the same city for five decades is so remarkable as to deserve special recognition on the part of one's associates and friends. And when that record has been not only successful but in every way honorable and creditable, well may the anniversary event be celebrated with admiration and enthusiasm.

We count ourselves as especially fortunate in having been associated with you in business, so long—from 33, 23 and 21 years, to shorter periods. We recall the agreeable and healthful conversations.

HOUSE REMOVED

FROM THE SITE NEXT TO ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

The dwelling house formerly on the site next to St. Peter's church, which is now the property of A. J. Donohue, was removed to South Highland street, where it will be converted into a two apartment house.

DIAMOND NOTES

Lowell at Lawrence today. Special cars to and from.

Tommy Catterson was wreathed in smiles when Manager Gray handed him $50 from the Bull Durham tobacco company. "That'll help the old out," said Tommy. Catterson lives in Portland, Me., and goes home every Saturday night. His wife is a sister of big Pat Conroy who played first base for the Portland team a few years ago. Pat at present is steward of the Portland Owls who have a big organization in that city.

If Tom Fleming would tell the rest of us his decisions and not confide them with the pitcher alone, he'd make a good umpire.

Barrows is expected back in the game Monday. 'Tis well.

Artie Welch of Lawrence is some pitcher, believe me.

Jake and Wright made a couple of one hand stops that were fine to behold but exceedingly risky.

"Joe" Donahue, second baseman of the Dartmouth team, has been in town for a few days getting his mouth back in shape as the result of a foul tip which got him while at bat. He joins the team at Williamstown today.

VALUABLE AUTO

Was Badly Damaged by Fire This Noon

Harold L. Chaffoux's new Brarcliffe model Lozier automobile was damaged by fire about 11:40 o'clock at his residence in Wilder street as a result of a back fire. The machine had been taken out of the garage and into the yard to be washed and after having been washed was being taken back to the garage when the fire broke out. One of the occupants of the house telephoned for the fire apparatus but the blaze was extinguished before it arrived.

A telephone alarm followed by a bell alarm from box 45 shortly after noon today was for a brush fire at Shedd park. The blaze was extinguished before any damage was done.

Shortly before 12:30 o'clock this afternoon a portion of the fire department was called to the Page farm in Tyngsboro, but the blaze was extinguished without the assistance of the local fire fighters.

An alarm from box 73 at 12:35 this afternoon was for a grass fire on the premises of James McKimley in Mammoth road near the corner of Sixth avenue. The fire was extinguished before any material damage was done.

POLICEMAN'S BODY FOUND

NEW YORK, May 13.—The body of a policeman in full uniform was found floating in the East river today. It is supposed to be that of James J. Judge, who disappeared on December 3rd, the day he had been assigned to report for strike duty. He never appeared and nothing has been heard from him since. The body found today was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to tell without an autopsy whether it had suffered violence before death.

THIRTY LIVES LOST

ANTWERP, Belgium, May 13.—A news despatch reports the capsizing of two barges laden with Belgian soldiers during a storm on the Lualaba river, one of the head streams of the Congo river, near Tokandu, Belgian Congo. Thirty lives were lost.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S TRIP

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Taft left Washington for Newark and New York shortly after noon today, accompanied by Senator Briggs of New Jersey, Rep. McCall of Massachusetts, Secretary Hilles and Major A. W. Butt. The president is scheduled for two speeches tonight, one at the 15th anniversary banquet of St. John's Lodge of Masons in Newark and the other at the conference on reform of the criminal law and procedure in New York.

BOXING GOSSIP

Tom O'Rourke has arranged a match between Morris Harris of Philadelphia and Jim Smith, the Westchester heavyweight, for next Friday night at the National Sporting club. Morris and Smith recently hooked up at another New York club and the scrap was so sensational that O'Rourke decided to rematch them.

If Jack Britton, the clever Chicago lightweight, wins a little more public favor by defeating other local boys here, he will receive an offer to box Freddie Welsh of England at the National Sporting club. Britton can make 133 pounds ringside, and is ready to meet all comers. Another bout with Paddy McFarland is not impossible.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Deals With Milk Men and Swill Collectors

The board of health at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon ordered Samuel P. Pike, milk dealer, to clean up his premises in Tewksbury within five days or to refrain from sending milk to this city. Agent Bates and Inspector Dr. Clement Hamblet said that the general condition of the barn was very bad. Mr. Pike was given five days in which to clean up his premises.

Henry Silverblatt sought recompense for injury to his horse and carriage through a collision with a team of the board of health, Mr. Silverblatt allowed it would cost $75 to fix things up. Agent Bates allowed that $23 would be enough and now the committee on claims will have to fix the amount of damage.

Roderick Monahan, reported on the collection of swill by persons who have not the necessary license and the licensed collectors who do not do their work well.

He mentioned one, Willet, who collected swill at 64 Ford street, and who received empty bottles at the same place. Among other complaints, Mr. Monahan made were that Thomas Roberge, of Dracont, collected swill without a license, George Southworth, who got swill at 17 and 20 Franklin court, had no license. A man named Littlehale of Tyngsboro, collected swill at 388 Middlesex street, having no license, George McElroy was doing business in Centralville, and George had no license. John P. Eaton, of Chelmsford, had a license to collect swill all right, but he sold turnips off the same wagon he loaded the refuse into. A great many of the collector's wagons were in an unsanitary condition. The chairman said that all those who had collected swill without a license should be complained of in the police court, and that those who possessed licenses and who violated the rules of the department should be brought before the board.

Curl D. Burt, a teacher in the High school, appeared before the board and said that he had been suspended from his duties in school because of the fact that his son is ill with scarlet fever in his home, Clark road. He stated that he had voluntarily gone to his son's home and had stayed there since the diagnosis, which showed scarlet fever. It was voted to permit Mr. Burt to resume his school duties on May 16. In the meantime Dr. T. B. Smith, city bacteriologist, will make an examination of the sick boy.

John Boudreau was granted a license to maintain a stable for one horse at 24 Crawford street.

Licenses to collect swill were granted to Manuel Silva E. A. Gould, Thomas Varnum and F. E. Tutnam.

First Communion Services Tomorrow

Over 550 boys and girls whose ages range from 7 to 11 years will receive first communion at the Sacred Heart church tomorrow, and elaborate plans have been made for the happy event. The children have been receiving instructions for the past month from Very Rev. T. Wade Smith O. M. I. The children will attend 8 o'clock mass and there will be special singing by the youthful communicants. After the service breakfast will be served in the school hall by the Holy Rosary sodality.

At 2 o'clock the first communion children will meet in the church when they will recite the act of consecration, renew their baptismal vows and be enrolled in the brown scapular. In the evening at 8:30 o'clock there will be special service with a procession of the first communicants, and closing with solemn benediction.

At this church tomorrow the nine o'clock mass will be changed to 8:30 o'clock, and the last mass will be at 11 o'clock instead of 10:30, and will be a low mass.

The Children of Mary sodality will have a May party Wednesday evening, May 31, at which the two act sketch, "At the Village Post Office," will be produced. It will be held in the new hall.

Mr. Herve Lussler, of Moody street leaves this morning for the Charles-town navy yard, where he enlists as a machinist. Mr. Lussler has been employed for some time past as electrician in the Lawrence Mill Co., and hopes to join his brother in Newport, R. I.

FOUR INDICTED GREAT FESTIVAL

As Result of Lawrence Paving Block Inquiry

NEWBURYPORT, May 13.—The Essex county grand jury made a partial report to Judge Schofield at 4 yesterday afternoon. Chief interest centers in the Lawrence cases, which the jury has been considering for some time.

Indictments were returned against Fred L. Snow, a contractor; Patrick Lyon, superintendent of streets; Phillip Holland, contractor, and Michael J. Flynn, street department clerk, alleging conspiracy. No bill was returned against John P. Kane of Lawrence.

It is understood that the Lawrence indictments were in connection with the paving block contracts and that they were agreed to by the jury last Friday. A number of Lawrence officials and business men were examined relative to other purchases made for the city of Lawrence and the election of certain officials. The probing was not concluded when the jury reported and it will meet again next Thursday.

HALL COMMISSION

Conferred With the Committee on Appropriations

The sub-committee on appropriations and the Huntington hall commission met yesterday afternoon and the commission agreed to do all in its power to get statements in writing from the owners of land constituting the old Washington tavern site, so called. The owners of the land will be asked to state what price they want for their land and what they desire to do about the sale of it.

Frank W. Hurd, of the commission, said he had spoken with the late A. C. Wheelock two weeks before his death, and Mr. Wheelock had said that he would be willing to take for his land what the city wanted for it. The question of the public hall fund was taken up incidentally and Chas. S. Proctor, of the commission, said that the money had never been set aside as a fund placed at interest, but had been apparently dumped into the general treasury fund of the city. Sometimes that money had been touched to piece out appropriations.

Mr. Gallagher said the appropriations committee desired very much to get written statements relative to the positions of Messrs. Cawley and Healey, who own land which goes to make up the Washington Tavern site, and from the belt of A. C. Wheelock, his widow, Mr. Chapman suggested that the commission appoint one of its members to go out and look up the prices of the land.

Mr. Proctor said this could be done, if any good could be accomplished by such action. Mr. Gallagher then referred to the various stories which had been circulated. He said he did not credit them, but would repeat them to the members of the commission just for what they were worth. He said it was talked occasionally that members of the commission desired the location of the public hall at Tower's corner because of the good it would do their property in the immediate vicinity. Also, it had been stated that members of the city government would never vote for the location in that place because their interests centered elsewhere.

He thought that written statements relative to the attitude of owners of land in the vicinity could be put on the records of the commission and would end any charges concerning personal interest in locating, or non-locating, in that section.

Mr. Proctor said that the commission had very fully gone into matters at a previous conference. He had told the committee personal affairs relative to the ownership of property in the vicinity which the commission had no right to ask. He wanted to deal fairly and so had told such intimate things. However, if the committee still doubted the honesty of purpose of the commissioners, the best thing which could be done would be to recommend to the city government that the order creating the commission be rescinded. That would put an end to the commission.

"If you haven't confidence in the men who have been working on this thing for four or five years, then the best thing to do is to see about abolishing the commission," he said.

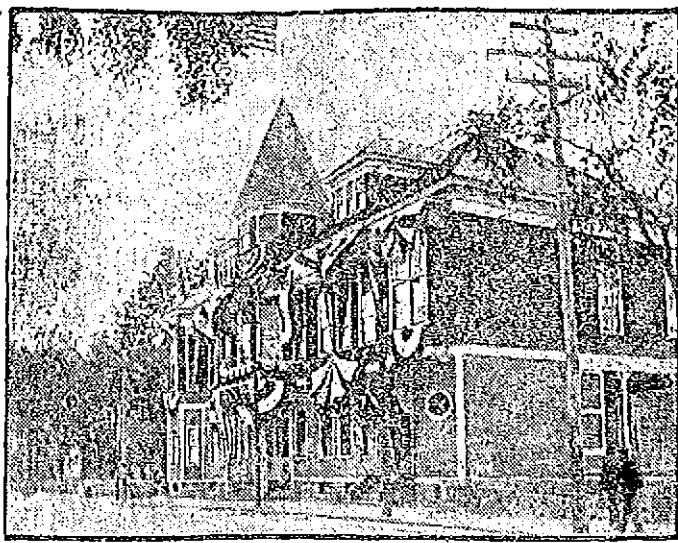

He wanted immediate action, saying that nothing had been achieved in recent months. He suggested that the committee members and the commissioners go out at once and talk with the owners of property. "We are acting like boys, not like men," he said.

Mr. Hurd agreed to the proposition of Mr. Chapman that statements from the commissioners relative to the attitude of real estate owners should be given to the committee.

Mayor Meahan, chairman of the commission, urged that personal feelings about the location of the public hall be put aside. He said that never would the time come when the entire city government would coincide with the commission relative to the choice of the site in question. There would have to be compromises, he said.

The commissioners, at this point, had a little session of their own and voted to instruct Mr. Hurd to see Mrs. Wheelock, Mr. Healey and Mr. Cawley, asking them at which figure they will sell their property at the corner of Church and Central streets.

The action of the commission was approved by the sub-committee.

22nd Anniversary of Organization of C.M.A.C. Observed

The 22nd anniversary of the organization of L'Association Catholique was observed in a fitting manner last night in the club rooms in Pawtucket street, by a festival which was also an annual event. The handsome building was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the event was one of the most successful in the history of the society.

The entire building was thrown open at 8 o'clock and a large throng of friends of the young men soon filled the upper hall which had been artistically decorated with the national colors. The American and French flags in the background of the stage as well as along the walls and the red and white streamers from the center of the hall, and the lights shined with red gave a very pretty effect.

The hall was lined with booths of different denominations. First as one entered he encountered to his right, the refreshment table which was richly decorated, the colors being white

Miss Atmand Lavole, president; Miss Lea Achin, president; Wilfrid Achin, vice president; Miss Corinne Bourke, vice president.

Regina Barry, president; Corinne Alexander, vice president; Della Loretto, vice president; Louise Loretto, vice president; Anna Bourassa, vice president; Bertha Secard, vice president; Rosa St. Hilaire, vice president; G. Desrosiers, vice president; Anna Loretto, vice president; Rose Comela, vice president; Della Surprenant, vice president.

Then came the candy table, the predominating colors there being white and purple. All grades of delectable confections were on sale on this particular table, and business was rushing too. Those in charge were:

Jennie Perelle, president; Eva Bissonnette, vice president; A. Ducharme, vice president; Antoinette Dupuis, vice president; Alice Gratton, vice president; Clara Caron, vice president; Blanche Vanasse, vice president; Eva Caron, vice president; Alice Lacroix, vice president; Eva Lequin, vice president; Blanche Dupuis, vice president; Alice Jodoin, vice president; Donald Dupuis, vice president; Regina Caron, vice president; Robt. Ducharme, vice president; Victoria Leclerc, vice president.

In the center of the floor was the most attractive spot; this was the flower table. It consisted of a huge basket prettily decorated with yellow and contained an elaborate line of select flowers. This table was in the care of the following who made a good night of it:

A contest was organized on this table between Misses Louise Lussier and A. Ferson.

The novelty table on the left hand side of the hall was the scene of great commotion and laughter. The colors were red and white and the articles so varied in price from cents to dollars. The mysterious packages went quick and attracted a large crowd as well as creating a lot of fun.

The following were in charge: Edmond Matte, president; Miss May Payette, president; Adolphe Brassard, vice president; Miss Jennie Langlois, vice president.

Last but not the least was the refreshment table situated in the large amusement room of the club, on the first floor. This booth was the largest and was artistically decorated with potted plants. Ice cream was the main attraction at this corner and a lot of it was consumed.

The following were there on duty: Wilfrid C. Vigeant, president; Miss Rosa C. Talbot, president; William A. Bourke, vice president; Miss Lea Benoit, vice president.

Fabronie Tellier, president; Aurora Lapointe, vice president; J. Grandchamp, vice president; Antoinette Richard, vice president; Bertha Tellier, vice president; Lena Lapointe, vice president; Florida Lapointe, vice president.

The whole ensemble presented a gay scene and to add to the festivities an elaborate entertainment program was rendered. First came a pretty little playlet entitled "On Demande Un Acteur," the parts being sustained by Masters Albert Gosselin and Henry Dubois, two well known young amateurs, who sustained their parts very well. The play created a lot of laughter and was well received by the large audience.

Then there was a minstrel presented by the famous Jolly club.

George Carpenter as an intercenter cannot be beaten, while the other members of the club, Frank Lecourt, Romeo St. George, Albert Gosselin, Fred Paquette, Fred Desrosiers, Eddie Drouin, proved to be first class and men. Songs and dances were well rendered and a large number of members of the association received their share of the knocking, especially one of them who recently at a box party purchased one of the previous boxes.

EYES RED, WOULD BURN AND STING

Grew Constantly Worse. Could Hardly Work Any More. Used Cuticura Remedies, and in Six Weeks She Was Cured.

"It is just a year ago that my eyes came over here to us. She had been here only a few weeks when her eyes began to be red, and to burn and sting as if she had sand in them. Then we used all of the home remedies. She washed her eyes with salt water, used hot tea to burn them with, and banded them over night with tea leaves, but all to no purpose. She went to the drug store and got some salve, but she grew constantly worse. She was greatly unable to look in the light. At last she decided to go to a doctor, because she could hardly work any more. The doctor said it was a very severe disease, and she might lose her eyesight. He made her eyes burn and applied electricity to them, and gave her various ointments. In the two and a half or three months that she went to the doctor, we could see very little improvement.

"Then we had read so much how people had been helped by Cuticura that we thought we would try it, and we cannot be thankful enough that we used it. My sister used the Cuticura Pills, bathed only with Cuticura Soap, and at night after washing, she anointed her eyes very gently on the outside with the Cuticura Ointment. In one week the swelling was entirely gone from the eyes, and after a month, there was no longer any mucus or watering of the eyes. She could already see better, and in six weeks she was cured. (Signed) Mrs. Julia Grepleske, 2005 Utah St., St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 26, 1910.

Many afflictions of the eyelids are eccentric or sympathetic. Cuticura Remedies used judiciously seldom fail to prove beneficial in such cases. Cuticura Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 139 Columbus Ave., Boston.

Of Late Mrs. Donovan of Bridgeport Wanted

A communication has been received in this city announcing the death of Mrs. Anne Sullivan Donovan of Bridgeport, Conn., on May 2. It is stated that her mother, Mrs. Margaret M. and her son, John, reside in Lowell. It is understood that the relatives will find it to their advantage to get into communication with the Bridgeport parties at once. The address may be found at this office.

All up to Associate.

DEATHS

ROGERS—John Z. Rogers, son of the late Zaddock Rogers of this city, died May 6 in New York city, where he had engaged in newspaper work for several years. He was 48 years old and a graduate of Brown university. He left Lowell many years ago and had engaged in various business ventures before going into journalism.

Saved Child From Death

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicines seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy. For coughs, colds, hoarseness, croup, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by A. W. Dows & Co."

Be sure to buy the Boston Sunday Globe tomorrow.

The late Zaddock Rogers was a brother of the Misses Rogers, who established Rogers Hall school and gave Fort Hill park to the city. He is survived by a wife and three sons. Mrs. Rogers was formerly Miss Hattie Morrey of this city, a daughter of the late William Morrey. The cause of death was tuberculosis.

CLAREMONT—Mr. Maxime Claremont died yesterday at his home, 157 Perkins street, at the age of 64 years. Besides his wife, he is survived by four daughters, Priscilla, Elizabeth, Marie Louise and Anna; one son, Romulus, and two brothers, Naresse of Lowell and Louis of Canada; one sister, Mrs. Alexis Ayotte of Plattsburg, N. Y.

CONDON—Mrs. Mary Mahoney Condon died yesterday at 12 Rogers street. She leaves her husband, Daniel, and two children, Jeremiah F. and Mary M., also her father in Ireland.

MURRAY—Mrs. Mary Murray, wife of Thomas H. Murray, and a devoted member of St. Patrick's church, died yesterday at her home, No. 151 Cushing street, aged 47 years. Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, John and Thomas Murray, and three brothers, John, Patrick and William Mitchell.

FUNERALS

HANCOCK—The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Soper Hancock took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock from the residence of her niece, Mrs. George R. Chandler, 59 Third street. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles T. Billings, pastor of the First Unitarian church. Burial will take place today at Coventry, Vt. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

KELLEY—The funeral of Mrs. Georgiana A. Kelley took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her sister in North Chelmsford. Services were conducted by Rev. C. H. Moe. The bearers were: W. A. Josselyn, J. Dunn, H. D. Gage and C. H. Whitmore. Burial was in the family lot in North Chelmsford. Undertaker C. M. Young in charge.

THE FRATERNITIES

GUSTAVE FORTIER, Regent.

Rochambeau Council, Royal Arcanum, and Its Officers

Rochambeau council, Royal Arcanum, the youngest local council of this large order, although not the least important, was instituted in 1903 by Grand Regent Albert W. David. This branch of the Arcanum is somewhat handicapped in the recruiting work for it is composed solely of French speaking people, but nevertheless the members are doing very good work and the council is in good standing.

At the first meeting the following 25 charter members were initiated: Joseph A. Legare, Louis E. Richards, Jean J. Cote, David A. Parthenais, Horace Desilets, Edouard S. Richard, Thomas J. Goyette, George E. Mongeau, Mar-Jorlique J. Cossette, Dr. George E. Calise, Ernest A. Bernard, Joseph A. Gagnon, Ed. Boulanger, Victor C. Sallou, L. P. Polier, Z. A. Normandin, H. Miller, Homer L. P. Turcotte, J. C. Mansueta, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux, J. Esphore Bourque, Louis Gagnon, F. A. N. G. Lehauc, Albert L. Provost, R. J. Vignault, Arthur Roberge, Henri Barry, Dr. G. E. Constantineau, Joseph Harvey.

On the same night the following board of officers was elected: Thomas J. Goyette, regent; M. J. Cossette, vice regent; H. L. P. Turcotte, orator; Joseph A. Legare, past regent; L. A. Richard, secretary; D. A. Parthenais, collector; G. E. Mongeau, treasurer; V. C. Sallou, chaplain; H. Desilets, guide; Ed. H. Boulanger, warden; Ed. S. Richard, sentry; Dr. G. E. Calise, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux and Dr. G. E. Constantineau, trustees.

The council has always taken an active part in all the Arcanum movements, and its members are always endeavoring to do their share of the work. Its membership is increasing every day and initiation classes are being held most every month. Another class being held for July, at which time it is expected some 15 new members will be enrolled.

The present officers are: Gustave Fortier, regent; Alfred Ducharme, vice regent; Lorenzo Gouin, orator; Alberic Branchaud, secretary; D. A. Parthenais, collector; M. J. Cossette, treasurer; Joseph Morin, chaplain; Aldeide L. Teller, guide; Aldeide Plourde, warden; Albert Desrosiers, sentry; Dr. G. E. Calise, Dr. J. E. Lamoureux and Dr. G. E. Constantineau, trustees.

Regent Fortier is an efficient officer and under his regency the council has made great progress, for many members were initiated and a substantial sum of money was realized through entertainments.

The present collector as well as the board of trustees have been in office since the organization of the council, while Secretary Branchaud has been serving as such for five years. The council meets every second and fourth Wednesday of the month in C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street.

day afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her sister, Mrs. Eva L. Hird, 45 Royal street. The services were conducted by Rev. Arthur Bonner, pastor of the Highland M. E. church, and Rev. George S. Butters, D. D., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Newton, Mass. Appropriate selections were sung by the Misses Florence Kilpatrick and Bessie Porter. The bearers were Frederick W. Parnham, Arthur W. Hird, Eugene Patterson and Joseph M. Spurr. Burial was in the family lot in the Eden cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

FUNERAL NOTICES

MURRAY—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Murray will take place Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her home, 151 Cushing street. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. Services at the grave, J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

BARRETT—The funeral of the late Mrs. Nancy Barrett will take place Monday morning at 8 o'clock from her home, 159 Salem street. Burial in St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Today concludes the successful season of the Donald Meek stock company with Sovereign DeDeyn at the Hathaway theatre and the many patrons of the theatre will regret their departure. The final performances of "The Bachelor's Honeymoon," which has been drawing large houses all week, will be given today and those who have not witnessed a performance should avail themselves of this closing opportunity. With the exception of Mr. Meek most of the members of the company will leave Lowell for other scenes the first of the week. Mr. Meek will remain in Lowell for a few days. Mr. DeDeyn goes to New York and from the metropolis he will proceed to Scranton, Pa., where he will run a summer stock company of his own. Miss Lillian Nelder goes to her home in Dorchester to enjoy her first vacation in the east in several years. Mr. Colby will spend a few days at his home in Lawrence and will then go with a summer stock company, Messrs. Marlon, Harrington and Keller, to touring engagements. Donald Meek will return to the Castle Square for the remainder of this month and the month of June and will open with the John Craig stock company on May 22 in the role of "Bob Acres" in Joseph Jefferson's great success, "The Rivals." Mr. Meek will spend the months of July and August in the country, taking well earned rest and he will return to Lowell in September. Mr. Meek is

TO PRODUCE ENERGY And Overcome Inertia

Good health is necessary to success—it is the mainspring of action. Without it you falter and fail and make a failure of things generally. Without good health you are at a disadvantage commercially, socially and intellectually. Health rules purpose, energy, concentration and accomplishment.

Be healthy. Remember that loss of energy means loss of business acumen. To ail means to fail. The surest means of warding off ailments and of providing against any loss of vigor is to take an occasional dose of Beecham's Pills.

They are famous the world over for their excellent effect upon the stomach, liver and other organs of digestion. If you are suffering in any way from digestive trouble you will be well advised to give them a trial. They will quickly and surely give tone to the system, restore the appetite, bring Health and Energy and help you to prevail in the battle of life. It pays to take

The Operatic recital given by J. Edward Pierce and Miss Marie Roslyn at the Merrimack Square theatre last evening proved a big drawing card despite the uncomfortable weather conditions. That the efforts of the singers were fully appreciated goes without saying. Their program was a select one and highly entertaining throughout. Mr. Pierce's fine baritone voice was used to advantage in several of the numbers and Miss Roslyn, a soprano of merit, also shared in the honors of the evening. It truly was a musical treat.

For next week Rose Platonoff, the wonderful little Russian girl whose going to Boston Light, more than a year ago, brought here before the public eye, will be seen in the feature offering. Miss Platonoff will give a demonstration of diving and swimming entirely new and novel to the theatregoers. This same act has been given at the other big vaudeville houses of the country at prices ranging from 25 cents to $1. Lowell playgoers will be given an opportunity to see the very same thing at the popular prices which prevail here.

Other acts on the bill include Sheldon and Wilson, presenting a comedy sketch, "The Bootblack and His Girl." This act is of unusual merit and is deserving of special mention. Harry Adler, known as "That Mimic," is one of the very best in his line, and sure to greatly amuse all of the patrons of this theatre. Jack Crowley will be heard in songs and there will be a new and high-class series of daylight motion pictures.

The sacred concerts, which will be given Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and in the evening at 7 and 9 o'clock will again compare favorably with the best of the season. The Jolly Larks will give a fine musical pot and Wal-lace and Osburg, comedians will entertain in their new offering. Jack Lyle is a singing and talking comedian and Roslyn and Pierce will render some new songs. There will be illustrated songs and other features.

The new system of ventilation makes this theatre one of the coolest spots in Lowell. Baseball results of all the leagues will be given nightly.

THEATRE VOYONS

at the Theatre Voyons is "A Klondike Steel," a picture of life in the far north staged with more than ordinary care and telling a story appealing and novel at the same time. Three of the most popular Vitaphone actresses appear in this picture in decidedly new roles. There are other features arranged for of the best kind and the whole program will be one of the best ever given in Lowell on Sunday. On Monday the feature picture will be "Mother," a heart picture that cannot fail to cause a lot of favorable comment.—Adv.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A big novelty bill at this house today. The musical Rossini in an acrobatic musical act; Bill Barlow, ex-temperance comedian, and Spesselt, Label and Engel, in "The Dutchman's First Visit," a funny pantomime novelty. A sacred concert will be given on Sunday. The vaudeville features for Monday include Ward Mykoff, sensational Russian dancers; Bobdon comedy trio, music, mirth and melody; Henry Lapan & Co., in a dramatic playlet, "The Rehearsal."—Adv.

On the desk also was a cablegram and a stack of letters from friends and employees who were unable to attend. The cablegram was from the London business office of C. J. Hood and Co. of which Mr. J. Wallace Stocks is manager. It read as follows:

Hood, Lowell.

To jubilee of honorable enterprise may future add all contentment and happiness.

Infanthood.

Letter from Charles H. Allen

The following letter was received from Mr. Hood's old and dear friend, Hon. Charles H. Allen:

Holyoke, Mass.

Charles H. Allen.

What, 50 years? It is not possible.

You must have gone to Dr. Kidder in long clothes with a nursing bottle in your hand. Congratulations.

Charles H. Allen.

A letter which Mr. Hood highly prized was received from Mrs. Mary Caverly of Pittsburg, Mass., who was Mr. Hood's private secretary from 1882 to 1889.

The handwriting in the letter was like copper-plate and showed that the years have not impaired the delicate touch of her hand. Other letters were from John E. Miller, Boston; Geo. B. Carter, Boston; Benjamin F. Pittman, Boston; George B. Holden, Boston; John J. Donohue, Lowell; Mrs. Iona Hoyt Barker, Lillian C. Sohier, Newton; Florence Peabody Colby, South Bend, Ind.; Edith Marian Chandler, John S. Chandler, Everett; W. A. Warren, New York; Charles E. Frost, Lowell; George L. Huntress, Boston; Joseph P. Knapp, New York; L. C. Cleveland, Rutland, Vt.; Herbert D. Wadleigh, Jr., Everett; S. A. Bailey, Boston.

Like Old Home Day

The guests after meeting Mr. Hood passed into the main office where a social time with all the happy features of an old-home day were enjoyed. The spacious apartment was gaily decorated with the American flags and the doors and windows were draped with the stars and stripes of the floral kingdom. Old employees who had met for a long time renewed old acquaintances and told stories of the happy days long since.

Two guests who received a particularly warm welcome were Mr. William Everett of Boston, former editor of the Lowell Herald, and Mr. W. A. Warren of the American Lithograph Co. of New York.

Mr. Warren sent fifty roses and a letter of regret but after mailing the letter, he got the spirit of the occasion, jumping on a train landed in Lowell in time for the anniversary.

Mr. Taylor, general Ed. LaChance, Ralph Shaw, Mr. Corwin and the other heads of departments, saw to it that everybody down to the humblest employee was made happy. The Page company served refreshments and the Ladies' orchestra furnished a delightful program.

After receiving his guests, Mr. Hood mingled with them and a delightful time was enjoyed until noon, when the merry affair broke up with three cheers for Mr. Hood and the combined wishes of his employees for long life and prosperity.

An Unexpected Gift

Just before the conclusion of the pleasant event an unexpected gift was received by Mr. Hood. It seems that when Mr. Hood left Chelsea, Vermont, he carried with him as a lunch a package of apple buns, which when he arrived in Lowell in his excitement, it being the first time he had ever ridden on a railroad train, he entirely forgot and left them in the train. As a reminder of the loss and to make it good he was presented with a package of delicious apple buns. Little Winston Rams, in boy scout uniform, made the presentation speech in rhyme.

An Unique Affair

The reception was one of the most unique and beautiful ever held by any employees of any business plant in this city and reflects great credit not only upon their originality but upon their good taste. The committees in charge were as follows:

General—E. W. LaChance, H. Glover, G. W. Putnam, H. J. Corwin, A. A. Long, E. E. Blaisdell, C. B. Parker, E. K. Humphreys, C. Naylor, R. H. Shaw, S. Wood, O. W. Abell, and D. H. Morrill.

Invitations—G. H. Taylor, Miss Glover.

Ushers—Miss Parker, Mr. Naylor.

Decorations—Miss Long, Miss Blaisdell, A. W. Grant, E. W. LaChance.

Orchestra—E. K. Humphreys.

Flowers—E. W. LaChance.

Refreshments—E. K. Humphreys.

Miss Parker, Miss Blaisdell, Mr. Putnam.

Souvenir—Mr. Corwin, Mr. Wood, Mr. Putnam, Mr. Morrill, Mr. Taylor.

A Self Made Man

Charles I. Hood's career is particularly interesting as a reason of the fact that he started with nothing more material than health, ambition and perseverance. His life is an example to
